Bella Joi, the online skin care and beauty retailer, announced earlier today that their popular Bella Joi Stretch Mark Cream that helps stretch marks from pregnancy is made in the USA. The company stressed that quality is one of the most important things that they focus on when creating, formulating and making the lotion for pregnant women. All Bella Joi beauty products are produced in a technologically-advanced USA laboratory that adheres to all the safety and quality assurance standards.

"We have always given importance to the quality of what we offer and we believe that the highest standards must be adhered to when formulating a beauty or skin care product," says Bella Joi Beauty's representative, Holly Richards. "All our products have been made in a certified lab based in the United States to ensure that it is of world-class quality. It is this adherence to quality in all aspects that helps make Bella Joi Stretch Mark Cream the best stretch mark cream for pregnancy."

Bella Joi has been enjoying being in the spotlight for some time now because of their line of beauty products, particularly their stretch mark cream, which is available at www.amazon.com/Bella-Joi-Stretch-Mark-Cream/dp/B00MSZNAWK/ as well as the Bella Joi website. The cream is now very popular among pregnant women since they are more prone to develop stretch mark scars. The scars occur during periods of rapid weight gain which is common for most women during pregnancy particularly in the third trimester. Women typically get stretch marks during pregnancy on their stomachs, breasts, thighs and back.

It is important that women who are pregnant have the utmost confidence in what they put on and in their bodies during this time. Being assured that the product is made in a USA accredited laboratory should help alleviate those concerns.
