

Managed Firewall & Enterprise Wireless Network Solutions Starts Now

March 04, 2019

March 04, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Customers looking for the latest managed firewall services will now be able to get involved with Syscomm Ltd. Today Darren Bindert, Head of Marketing at Syscomm Ltd releases details of the new Managed firewall Service's development.

The managed firewall service is designed to appeal specifically to business owners and includes:

Firewall policy - This feature was included to reduce the maintenance overhead, the time to deploy new services, and also the potential for configuration errors. This is great news for the consumer as the centralised approach helps to ensure that Firewall security policies are consistent across the whole organisation.

Managed firewall service - This creates a private, secure, any-to-any network between sites. Customers who invest in the service should enjoy this feature because it allows you to add new sites, bandwidth and services quickly and easily. It also enables you to bring Voice, Data, Application and Cloud traffic together into a single network.

24/7 pro-active monitoring - Syscomm Ltd made sure to make this part of the managed firewall service's development as to connect with 3G, 4G, ADSL, FTTC, EoFTTC, EFM, Fibre and Wireless. Customers of the Managed firewall Service will likely appreciate this because it reduces complexity and costs, whilst increasing performance and security.

Darren Bindert, when asked about the Managed firewall Service said: "We are a team of dedicated, certified network professionals that go beyond information technology implementation and support to deliver a business orientated, strategic IT service to fulfil client business needs and facilitate their growth. We operate to high organisational and professional standards, attaining the Accredited UK standard, an industry recognised mark that represents excellence in the provision of IT services and business practice."
