August 07, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

National Card Solutions (NCS) in Sacramento, California is pleased to announce its company launch. The credit card processing company will provide a full suite of services to markets all cross the United States.

"We will offer processing using new state of the art PCI compliant POS systems," states Jeff Easter of National Card Solutions. "Our services will also include small business financing and EMV compliance."

The company will offer fast, hassle-free credit card processing for small and medium sized businesses, in addition to pin and signature debit card processing. Other services will include prepaid and gift cards, allowing businesses more options with regards to advertising, as well as ACH processing, electronic benefits transfers, and mobile card processing.

The use of debit and credit cards has grown commonplace over the past few years, making it essential for businesses to be able to accept these forms of payment. Studies show that more consumers today use plastic as a means of payment than cash or check, which means that small businesses must conform to these types of payments in order to make sales.

Credit card processing also offers security for both business owners and customers. Many consumers find credit cards a more convenient form of payment, and business owners have fewer worries of insufficient check funds when they take credit cards.

Financial experts urge small businesses to begin accepting credit cards if they are not already, because this can drive higher sales and open up opportunities in various other markets.

National Card Solutions provides services to businesses across the US, enabling those businesses to build a larger customer base.
