Calgary, Alberta ? DHL Mechanical is a company that specializes in radian hot water boiler heating systems in Calgary. The company was founded in 1996 and is a preferred service provider by Calgary residents. They offer premier heating, ventilation, air conditioning (HVAC), air quality and plumbing design, installation, repair, and maintenance services, serving the greater Calgary area and clients throughout Western Canada. They follow a strict protocol, making sure that promised solutions are delivered within the agreed time frame.

Ready to serve, DHL Mechanical has produced numerous happy customers. Among them is Iris Waite who said, ?I finally found a reliable company. Mark (DHL mechanic) replaced our 40+ year old water heating system, but not only that he also replaced the thermostats in our home. What we have now is so much better than it ever was. Super job and very professional. We will recommend them to anyone.?

Radiant hot water heat is within reach of the Calgary service area with DHL Mechanical ready to assist. With the necessity for a safe and efficient system for residential and commercial living space, addressing the heated water that passes through a network of pipes and radiators just got easier. Typical natural gas is vented out, allowing the experts to install radiators on the floor along the baseboards or walls, offering less variation to get the appropriate temperature compared to forced heating.

Conversely, DHL Mechanical can also aid in any air- conditioning need. Aware that the average life of an air conditioning unit is normally 10 to 14 years, DHL Mechanical ensures that they are functioning properly at peak efficiency. They also offer preventive maintenance to help clients avoid unforeseen and costly repairs or eventual replacement in certain cases. With the right preventive maintenance service provider, the company not only assures a properly functioning AC unit but a stress-free recourse to make sure that customers don?t end up spending hefty sums to enjoy a comfortable and worry-free life.

DHL Mechanical is ready to serve any HVAC need in their service area. They are located at 115 Midglen Pl SE, Calgary, AB T2X 1H6 and ready to sit down and discuss various concerns. Appointments and consultations can be done by phone at (403) 863-8246 or via email at info@dhlmechanical.ca.
