The Gastro Center is a New Jersey based gastroenterologist that provides a number of services aimed at helping its client maintain a healthy digestive system. One of the most important parts of any healthy body is its digestive system, and keeping it running is essential to maintaining good health.

The Gastro Center prioritises the digestive health of its clients, and relies on its highly trained professional gastroenterologists to treat patients using only the most modern approaches and medical techniques. ?We work towards accommodating the unique needs of every patient. We understand the value of health and happiness for your body and mind,? said the clinic.

The clinic recently launched a new website with a wealth of information on digestive tract issues, how to identify them, and when to seek out the help of a specialist. With pages of information spanning the subject, Gastro Center?s webpage should help the residents of New Jersey, and perhaps those in other locations, manage the health of their digestive system better.

?Letting your digestive system deteriorate can lead to both embarrassing and serious results, but dealing with digestive disorders on your own might be overwhelming at times,? noted the Gastro Center. Thus, the clinic is committed to helping their clients find and deal with any issues in their digestive system before they elevate into serious situations. Among other things, the Gastro Center treats liver disease, celiac disease, colon cancer, Irritable Bowel Syndrome (IBS), inflammatory bowel disease, and so on.

The Gastro Center?s physician is an award-winning gastroenterologist and Internal Medicine specialist Dr. Theodore A. DaCosta, MD. He has worked for nearly 30 years in the medical field and is an expert in the diagnosis and treatment of issues of the digestive and gastrointestinal tract. Dr. DaCosta treats patients with all manner of stomach issues, including severe diarrhea, IBS, hemorrhoids, and other conditions.

There are a number of symptoms that indicate the need to see a gastroenterologist, such as the onset of rectal bleeding, acid reflux, indigestion, constipation, and many others. People who experience these symptoms don?t often rush to the nearest clinic or endoscopy center, preferring to either deal with the symptoms themselves or wait for the issue to resolve itself. Many do not see a specialist until the symptoms are severe.

The Gastro Center believes that this is not usually the wisest course to take. ?Early detection is critical to ensuring that your condition can be treated before it may become irreversible. Time is of essence in many GI conditions,? advised the clinic. A primary care physician isn?t always equipped with the knowledge and technology required to treat certain digestive issues, or perform certain procedures. Those looking for a gastroenterologist NJ may contact the Gastro Center to learn more about their services.

The clinic offers a number of theses specialised procedures. A colonoscopy is a procedure that is usually performed on people over the age of 45 to test for colorectal cancer and other conditions. The procedure involves the insertion of an endoscope, a thin flexible tube with a camera attached, into the patient?s GI tract. The clinic also offers capsule endoscopy (which is when a small camera is placed in a capsule and swallowed), haemorrhoid ablation (which is the use of infrared light to heal haemorrhoids), upper endoscopy (which is similar to a colonoscopy except the tube is place in the esophagus), and anorectal manometry (which is a study performed to diagnose and treat the cause of constipation or irregular bowel movements).

Patients who have already been diagnosed with chronic digestive conditions are required to regularly visit the gastroenterologist giving them care, and are advised to contact their specialist if the condition worsens.

The Gastro Center is ready and willing to assist the residents of New Jersey. The clinic is located at https://goo.gl/maps/mgWoxHK71LD2. ?We believe in the importance of uniquely assessing each and every patient, from diagnosis to post-treatment education,? said the clinic. ?We understand the difficulty of living with gastrointestinal problems, which many people deal with unknowingly every day. If you are experiencing abdominal pain, indigestion, constipation, difficulty swallowing, chronic diarrhea, and other similar symptoms, the Gastro Center of NJ can help. At the Gastro Center of NJ, every patient is given the utmost care and attention. From simple procedures to advanced gastroenterology care, we can provide the world class and modern care that you deserve.?
