San Antonio-based Texas Homebuyers is proud to announce that they are now offering direct home-buying services to property owners in San Antonio and the neighboring areas.

It is stated on their website, <https://texashomebuyers.business.site>, that they provide fast and stress-free direct buying services to estate owners who need to sell their properties as soon as possible. The process can be completed in as fast as seven days, given that the property is not associated with any illegal activity and things alike. The company also purchases houses of all sizes and shapes, regardless of condition and situation.

Homeowners who are looking to sell their house immediately are encouraged to visit Texas Homebuyers? website and schedule an appointment with a representative from the company who will evaluate the house in a short time. After the evaluation, homeowners will receive an offer within 24 hours. Aside from convenience, they also provide homeowners with a fair and reasonable cash offer that is within the expected current market value of the property.

Selling a house without a real estate agent has its benefits. The main advantage is homeowners can skip the step where they would pay commissions and other fees, thus having the whole profit for themselves. Moreover, the transaction will be guaranteed smoother and faster since middlemen are already eliminated from the process. This ensures a more reliable communication as the homeowner will be dealing with the buyer directly. Lastly, the seller will have the opportunity to market the property effectively and have a more transparent negotiation with the buyer.

Texas Homebuyers provides direct homebuying services to homeowners who are in difficult situations such as divorce, foreclosure, relocation, inheriting a property that is not needed, being behind on mortgage payments, having a house that is not up-to-code, or any other major life change. Interested parties may check the company's service areas on their Google Maps page at <https://goo.gl/maps/PwGeobDgtCz> if they wish to sell a house to the company. Nonetheless, the company added that its service areas are not limited to what can be seen on the map. As long as the location is near the San Antonio area, they will buy the property in no time.

A client of the company says, "My husband and I learned about Texas Homebuyers last year in June. The team was well-prepared and answered all of our questions. They were the perfect fit for us. They are very organized, professional, and extremely knowledgeable of the housing market in San Antonio and its neighborhood. Since it was our first time to sell a house, they made sure that we understand the process, which was surprisingly easy compared to when it's with real estate agents. Every step of the process was explained to us which gave us reassurance that our home will be in good hands. The company has other clients at that time but we felt like we were the only ones because of their full dedication in helping us sell our house. We are very grateful for the company's patience and determination when we were constantly asking them for updates about the process. They were able to buy our house after a few days and we did not even experience any hassle throughout the transaction. They took care of everything and the only thing we did was sign the closing papers. We would definitely recommend Texas Homebuyers when it comes to selling your house immediately."
