Bangkok, Thailand based company, Royal Ivory Nana Hotel, has announced their recent preferred partnership with Booking.com. The hotel has undergone some minor renovations as of late, which have helped to boost ratings and cause quite a positive stir among guests. The company hopes that being listed as a preferred partner through Booking.com will help the brand continue to grow and in turn increase the number of visitors each year.

Some of the more notable renovations which the Bangkok Nana has undergone include re-tiling of the swimming pool and the addition of 3 sunbathing chairs. The hotel has also doubled the internet speed by adding an additional provider in case of an internet outage, and doubled the access points to their WiFi throughout the hotel for customer convenience. The company has described themselves and their amenities as follows, "The Royal Ivory offers you a range of facilities from swimming pool to massages. During your stay with us you can swim, take a break with a massage or even work on your laptop using our Free Wireless Internet. Our tailor shop offers you custom-made suits and blouse that will support your needs. Other than that we also have a travel agent that can give you plenty of ideas on which other stops can you go to in Thailand."

Since the partnership with Booking.com, the Nana Plaza has seen the generation of more than 800 bookings per month through this online channel. Due to this sudden rise in popularity, the hotel has also added a tour option for a free half-day tour of the city. This is being offered to only to those guests who book directly through the company rather than a travel site, in an effort to generate additional interest in the hotel website.

The Nana Hotel website gives visitors an inside look at the rooms and amenities through a virtual tour, provides access to current and upcoming promotions, and offers a description of things to do while visiting the city. The company also provides an online gallery and links to their social media accounts through the site. Whether individuals book through the hotel website or Booking.com, the Royal Ivory Nana Hotel has made it clear that they will strive to give each guest the comfort of a home away from home.
