March 21, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Fort Myers, FL based ADM Real Estate Photography and Videography, LLC is delighted to announce that their recently opened Fort Myers real estate media division can now provide cutting edge aerial photography and aerial videography. This service brings a welcome addition to their high-quality and affordable real estate photography, videography, and 3D virtual walk through tours for residential real estate owners.

ADM, or Alchemy Digital Media, are certified Zillow photographers, as well as certified photographers with Real Estate Photographers of America & International, providing services to Lee County (Southwest Florida) real estate agents and brokers.

A picture paints a thousand words and, in today's language, high quality videography as well aerial forms of capture are very important pieces in real estate marketing. Finding a fantastic photographer can make all the difference, so picking one who provides the highest possible quality at the best prices in the area is vital. ADM considers their work done only when their customers are completely happy with their service, including aerial photography, videography, and Matterport 3D virtual tours. ADM's pricing is transparent, customers only have to decide what they want on the company's website, and the results will be completed and delivered within 48 hours.

Selling a house is stressful enough without having to worry about whether the pictures will be good enough to show off the property at its full potential to prospective buyers. Agents generally consider photography expenses to be just one part of the many marketing costs associated with selling properties. However, just having high quality photos of the interior and exterior is no longer enough when marketing residential properties?having the right types of pictures is essential to making the best of that all important first impression.

Pictures that entice buyers to come and view the property are key. Many modern buyers will want to scroll through every single picture several times, so a high-quality video tour would allow them to imagine living in the house themselves before they even come to view the property. Real estate pictures and videography tell a story?and for everyone, where they live is one of the most important stories of their lives. For those looking to experience the lifestyle, Fort Myers Real Estate Photography and Videography can create video tours to help brokers build brand recognition for their business.

ADM?s clients share positive experiences with the company. Randall Colondres gave ADM a 5-star review last month: ?Couldn't be more impressed with what Alchemy has achieved for me and my clients, from the professional 3D Virtual tour, to their professional photography, Drone services, and attention to detail! Alchemy has shown themselves to be the real deal, they have not only done a great job with being on time and working with our schedule, but they also worked to get all my results in less than 48 hours! I would 100% recommend their services to other realtors and investors who are looking to get the best in Photography and Videography for their clients. Go check out Alchemy Digital Media!?

?We love to take great aerial pictures and aerial videography to give everyone the peek of that all-important bird?s eye view, but we can keep our feet on the ground if that is what our client wants,? said Earl Gardner of ADM, who continued, ?Shooting real estate photographs is truly an art, and snapping some shots on your cell phone just isn?t going to cut it.?

Needless to say, finding photographers who reflect the professionalism of the real estate agency is key, and ADM know the importance of this when dealing with every single client. Harris Grose had this to say in his 5-star review of ADM last month: ?Very professional company. They look professional when they show up to take the photographs and are very thorough when it comes to moving items to make sure they get the best possible shots. I'll definitely keep using them for my listings.?

ADM Real Estate Photography and Videography, LLC is a member of the Real Estate Photographers of America & International (REPAI), an Internet-based trade association for certified real estate photographers. All photographers undergo a rigorous screening and certification process before being
