

Las Vegas Model Agency Seeking New Talent

March 21, 2019

March 21, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Prestige Models Agency in Las Vegas, Nevada has announced that they are actively seeking new models to join their agency. The modeling firm offers models in Las Vegas for a number of purposes from commercials and videos to fashion shows, event modeling and brand ambassadors. A complete list of their current models and services can be seen at <https://prestigemodels.vip/>.

Ciara Rivera, a representative for the modeling agency says, "We have more than 15 years of experience in pairing models with events and excellence is our middle name. We strive to provide models that represent our agency with the utmost in professionalism and class, and we would love to talk to those who are looking to get into the modeling industry."

Rivera says that all of their models exceed their clients' expectations and are trained to create a positive and relaxed atmosphere. For those looking to hire models, the company provides models for corporate events to spice up the party and provide a more positive experience for attendees.

"Our website is the place to begin," says Rivera. "Those who are interested in becoming one of our models simply have to visit us online and all of the instructions are there. We are always looking for models who pride themselves on their elegance and class."

Rivera says that those who are interested can also learn more by visiting Prestige on their corporate Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/PrestigeLasVegas/>. The Facebook page offers photos of some of their models at a variety of events to give potential models an idea of the kind of people that the company is looking to hire.

For Vegas clubs and casinos, the company provides models to sit at the client's table and provide a beautiful atmosphere for those who are playing or to host various parties or other events. Rivera states that their models are all high class and elegant and guaranteed to be the life of any party.

Models who are interested in applying with the company can find an application form on their website. An online form is available with specific information that must be provided, as well as images of full face and body shots. A minimum of three to five images must be submitted along with the information in order for models to be considered. Rivera states that anyone who is interested can either use the online form or visit the company in person in Las Vegas to speak with someone on staff.

Those who are interested in hiring models for upcoming events can also fill out an online form on the website and let the company know how many models they will need and the type of event that they are looking to host. Rivera states that all of the models from Prestige are experienced in high class and professionalism. Images of current models, as well as general information, can be seen on the website.

Rivera says that the image that many have of breaking into the modeling world does not always hold true. She states that while there are specific guidelines that the company follows for hiring models, those who are seriously interested should contact them. The company works with models for a wide range of purposes and Rivera adds that they have helped many of their models to further their careers in other fields, including fashion runway modeling for designers and acting. She states that anyone who has always dreamed of modeling should contact them. Contact can be made through the online website form, by phone or by email, or those in the Las Vegas area can visit the company in person to speak with Rivera and learn more about the modeling process. Rivera states that those interested in hiring models for events can also phone, email or visit them in person to learn more.

###

For more information about prestige models agency, contact the company here:prestige models agency
Ciara Rivera 6512761619contact@prestigemodels.vip Las Vegas, NV

prestige models agency

Prestige Models provides models and talent for all type of projects including print, runway, event staffing, conventions, hostesses, runway models, extras, brand ambassadors or even eye candy, prestige Models can provide your company?s needs.

Website: <https://prestigemodels.vip>

Email: contact@prestigemodels.vip

Phone: 6512761619

Powered by PressAdvantage.com