Baba Me, a Newry, Northern Ireland company that provides natural baby products, is celebrating its 15th year in business. The company provides high quality wooden toys throughout the UK and offers the ability to browse by age, toy type, brand or specific teaching skill on their website. Those interested in learning more can visit the company on their Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/babame/>.

Maebh Collins, a representative for the company says, "We are thrilled to be in our fifteenth year of providing quality wooden toys for newborns up to age 12. We have sold reusable nappies for 15 years, way ahead of the curve on the recent trend to reduce waste. Disposable nappies don't break down for over 500 years, reusable nappies save over £1000 per child."

Collins says that over their 15 years in business, the company has helped more than 20,000 families move to reusable nappies. This has helped to prevent an average of 5,500 nappies per child, or more than 110,000,000 disposable nappies from going to the landfill.

"Each year in the United Kingdom, an estimated three billion nappies are thrown away, which accounts for about two to three percent of all household waste, according to recycling charity Wrap,? says Collins. ?Our aim is to significantly lower these numbers, and we have done a pretty decent job of it in the past.?

Collins says that it is important that parents provide educational and developmental toys for children. She states that the company?s online store has a wide selection of wooden toys that are categorized depending on the age of the child or the specific skillset that parents want to teach. Toys are also categorized by specific brand so that parents can find the brand name that they prefer and go to see all of the products by that brand that the company offers. More on these categories can be seen on the company?s website at <https://www.babame.com/reusable-nappies.html>.

Collins adds that the website has been a big part of the company?s success over the years as it allows them to showcase all of their offerings and help parents who may otherwise not be able to get to a store to find these items. She states that the company is dedicated to taking care of the planet, which is where their organic and all natural wooden toys come in. They offer a wide selection of wooden toys that are organic, fair trade, natural and handcrafted from various sustainable materials.

Collins states that the toys on the company?s website are also conveniently categorized by the type of play that they offer. The company has categories for pretend play, creative play, and imaginative play. Wooden toys include doll houses, jigsaw puzzles, craft supplies, and a variety of additional games and items that are designed to help children to learn as they play.

In addition to their natural wooden toys and other items, the company also provides information on how to properly clean and care for their selections. Collins states that anyone who has questions about a particular toy can use the online chat feature to ask and get answers to those questions.

Those who are interested in learning more or in viewing the wide selection of wooden toys and games that are available can visit Baba Me online at <https://www.babame.com/wooden-toys.html>. The website offers direct contact information for those who have questions or a convenient online ordering feature. Collins states that the company is dedicated to helping parents to provide more environmentally friendly and safe for play toys and games for their children, as they have been for the past 15 years. She states that those who are interested can visit the company online or contact them directly by phone or by email with any questions. Collins adds that the company is thankful to their customers for their past 15 years of success and that they look forward to continuing their legacy in the future.
