March 25, 2019 -
The personal injury team of Emmanuel Sheppard & Condon is proud to announce the launch of their information-packed website, https://www.pensacolalawyer.com. The firm has several Gulf Coast area offices, but the main office can be found in Pensacola, Florida. The personal injury group works hard to defend their clients with a dedicated team for every case they receive. In their practice, they deal with car accidents, industrial injuries, product liabilities, wrongful death, worker?s compensation, and many more. Notably, the firm offers free case evaluations and they may be contacted at any time of day.

A quick overview of how a personal injury case may proceed is included on the website. To begin, the first step involves preparing for the trial (such as saving all evidence that may help the case), keeping a journal, and making a list of witnesses. After that, the investigative stage begins, and, if necessary, the team of lawyers will collect photographs and conduct interviews in order to build the foundation for their case. The evaluation phase is next, which allows time for your physician to determine the severity of your injuries. When you and your doctor believe your condition will not improve anymore, the personal injury attorney will then sit down to discuss your settlement options.

Many cases may be settled out of court, but others require the attorneys to file a personal injury lawsuit, to help ensure the strongest settlement. In some occasions, mediation may be offered before a pretrial and trial.

Emmanuel Sheppard & Condon has extensive experience in car accident cases, and all types of motor vehicle accident cases. Clients who are injured in boating, trucking, bus or motorcycle accidents can also find experienced legal help at the firm. For more information about car accident cases, visit: https://www.pensacolalawyer.com/practice-areas/car-accident/. Expert legal help is available for anyone who has been wrongfully injured in an automobile accident in the Pensacola or Gulf Coast area. As the firm operates on a contingency basis, it means that they will not collect money unless the case is won. It's important that injury victims consult the advice of a lawyer as insurance companies typically have their own interests in mind before that of their customers.

The firm also specializes in social security disability cases, with many cases handled by Wanda Radcliffe. This attorney has completed thousands of cases of this type and has a 90% success rate in getting her clients Social Security benefits. While the Social Security Administration determines whether the injury counts as a disability or not, and while many first-time applications may be rejected, Emmanuel Sheppard & Condon can help with the appeal process as well. More information on this process can be found here: https://www.pensacolalawyer.com/practice-areas/social-security-disability/.

Emmanuel Sheppard & Condon has received dozens of glowing reviews, as seen on their website, with multiple people commenting on the personal attention and care taken on their cases. Others describe how much easier the legal process was after they hired a lawyer, and still more commented on the professional environment and manner that the service was provided with.

The firm states, ?We are very proud of the new personal injury website. We believe it will be an invaluable tool to drivers, and to anyone who has been injured in an accident.? There is a plethora of content available to any potential clients, and anyone who has been injured in an accident can find all the information required to inform their decisions going forward. In addition, the video page covers a wide variety of helpful topics. Clients can also read the blog to learn more.

Those who wish to make further inquiries may contact Alicia Leidner of Emmanuel Sheppard & Condon. Aside from the website, interested parties may also connect with the firm through their social media platforms to stay up to date with their latest news and announcements.
