OutdoorWind, a company based in Chattanooga, TN, has released their latest line of Wind Chimes on Amazon. The chimes are designed to create a relaxing atmosphere and aesthetically pleasing scenery in even the most common outdoor spaces. To be used in gardens, on balconies, decks, verandas, and even front yards, the chimes have already shown favor with OutdoorWind customers through the company's Amazon product page, where reviews and testimonials are visible.

With the summer months in full swing OutdoorWind encourages new customers to try the chimes and see what all the fuss is really about. They have made it clear that while there are other chime products available online, OutdoorWind chimes are not only of the highest quality, but also produce a melodic light tinkling that surpasses competitor models in terms of sound. They explain, "There is truly nothing quite like stepping outside your home to take a fresh breath of air, and to enjoy a bit of nature. Getting away from the people inside, to your own private spot outdoors is a real joy. Our 'OutdoorWind' brand of outdoor products is designed to enhance every moment you get to enjoy outdoors."

The company has also announced their next big endeavor with a product they hope to release in the future, a ten garden tool set with shovel, rake, bag, gloves, wire, and more. They have explained that these tools will be the perfect companion to the chimes, as it will allow individuals to maintain their gardens yards, or even small patio gardens while enjoying the whimsical sound of the musical chimes. When the new products become available, they will be visible on the company website. This is the best place for new customers to learn more About OutdoorWind.

Another location where the public can find information on new products, promotions, discounts, and more, is the Facebook Page of OutdoorWind. Here, photos, video clips, articles, and customer interactions can be viewed, along with further reviews and ratings on the chimes. Currently the chimes can be purchased through the company sales channel for $21.95, and includes a 100% customer satisfaction guarantee for a full refund.
