Homeowners in Orlando take the typical route of listing their houses online and hiring a real estate agent, hoping that these measures will expedite the process. Online listings may be inexpensive but they rarely generate enough traction. Sponsored listings cost money. Hiring a real estate agent is only the start. All realtors recommend homeowners to advertise their properties, they insist on staging the home before it is shown to any interested homebuyer, there are extensive negotiations and a long drawn process that may not lead to a sale. Most real estate agents represent the buyers as well so they must attend to their demands also. Realtors represent multiple properties at the same time so they are not out of option when buyers do not like one property. Many homeowners end up spending months waiting and investing more money without getting anywhere close to a sale.

There is a research team that verifies the ownership details among other facts. A fair evaluation ascertains the price, which is communicated in the purchase offer. Orlando Property Solutions does not deal with any realtor. They do not have networks of real estate agents or other intermediaries. Homeowners deal with Orlando Property Solutions directly and they get a straight up cash offer. The purchase offer is not an estimate. While the offer is nonobligatory and a property owner can take as much time as they want to consider it, the company has a practice of closing sales in seven business days.
