March 26, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Tampa, FL- Thompson Buys Houses is buying houses directly from homeowners in Tampa and across Florida without charging any commissions and closing costs. The real estate investment company has already purchased many houses at various locations across the city and the homeowners have been able to capitalize on their assets without hiring any real estate agent or listing their properties online. This is an unprecedentedly simple proposition for every owner of residential property who wants to sell their house quickly and at a fair price.

A company spokesperson said that traditionally people have been compelled to use classifieds and hire real estate agents due to a lack of option. There was no alternative to online listings and realtors. These two served as the primary mediums of reaching out to homebuyers. Now there is an alternative that is surer, simpler and quicker. The company has a simple proposition for all homeowners. The owners express their intent to sell their houses. The company schedules an appointment when a real estate consultant from their office in Tampa visits the property. The viewing is primarily for an inspection to assess the property. The ownership details and other relevant information are verified by the research team of the company, following which they put forth a cash offer.

The cash purchase offer is presented in twenty four hours from the viewing. If a homeowner accepts the purchase offer, the sale can be expedited and the company will complete the transaction in seven business days. Homeowners are under no obligation to either accept the offer or to do so within a specific period of time. Homeowners can take a day or weeks if they need to deliberate on the offer. The commitment to close the sale in a matter of seven business days still stands for those who take their time to decide. There are no upfront charges or hidden fees. Homeowners have no financial obligation whatsoever.

Thompson Buys Houses has already purchased many properties in the city. They do not have any specific criteria to choose residential properties. They consider properties of all kinds, sizes, layouts, architectures and at any location or in every possible condition. There are rental property owners in the city who have sold houses to the company without spending any money on repairs or even staging. Owners of hoarder houses have done the same. Many rental property owners are unable to sell the houses due to the hefty investment needed for repairs and upgrades. Hoarder houses also face an uphill battle to convince homebuyers to purchase their properties that may have structural issues and other problems.

The proposition of Thompson Buys Houses has also come as a breather for all homeowners who need a quick sale. Among their clients are divorced couples who had to expedite the sale of their properties as a part of the proceeding of the divorce. The company offers a swift turnaround time and the timeline is not beyond the control of homeowners. They can time the sale to suit their date of moving out.
