JackpotCandles.com, candlemakers from Amherst, New York, has announced the release of its latest product: scented jewelry candles which reveal surprise jewelry with every use. These candles are made from 100% soy and proudly made in the United States.

The jewelry candles have become the latest craze among candle collectors and aromatherapy enthusiasts. Jewelry lovers would especially find something interesting in the candle. Farrah, a Jackpot Candles sales executive, explains: "What makes the candles special is the surprise gift within the candle in the form of jewelry as its wick wears out," she said. "The element of surprise is exciting. Customers love finding out what they received, while enjoying our candles' exciting and fresh scents."

JackpotCandles.com offers scented candles with scents that range from fruit, flower, and food fragrances. Its best-selling candles carry the scents of sweet pea, lilac, birthday cake, cherry blast, jack frost, cinnamon sensation, banana nut bread, and ocean breeze. These exciting candles are made from non-chemical materials and 100% soy-based products, which makes it safe to light inside homes. Customers would only need to use and light the candle to reveal the surprise jewelry within the scented candle. Choices of jewelry include earrings, rings, and necklace. These pieces of jewelry can be appraised on the company's website for customers to find out their worth, ranging from $15 to $5,000, without leaving your home.

The jewelry candle craze is on the rise. Orders for jewelry candles on the company's website have been coming from coast to coast. One happy customer wrote a testimonial on the company's Facebook page. Janet, from California, purchased a Sweet Pea scented candle and was pleased to find a necklace worth $80 after repeated lighting of the candle. "I never thought I'd find a higher value piece of jewelry inside a candle! It's amazing. Everyone should follow Jackpot Candles on Facebook to win a candle! And maybe a ring worth $5,000!" wrote Stacey.

Farrah invites everyone to experience their jewelry candles. "Our Instagram account says it all! See what some of our customers have uncovered here, and they'd be curious to see what the jewelry candle craze is all about! Visit Jackpot Candles - a jackpot in every candle; they make the perfect gift!"
