July 16, 2015 -
Adfilic, a company in Richmond, British Columbia, Canada, has just launched a high precision measuring tool on the Amazon marketplace. This tool, which is much less costly than a Mitutoyo caliper, is now available for purchase by global customers. The new digital electronic caliper can be used to measure both internal and external distances with precision accuracy. Adfilic has launched it in conjunction with celebrating its 20th product launch anniversary on the Amazon marketplace. They also offer various other electronic products.

James Chien, spokesman for Adfilic, explains, "We've designed the caliper to provide the perfect means of measurement for all projects, and we've designed it from premium stainless steel, so it will last for a lifetime." The caliper features a large LCD display, allowing users to read it with ease, and a no hassle conversion, featuring one button that allows conversion from millimeters to inches instantly. Chien adds, "We also offer a risk-free purchase for our customers. All of our products come with a 100 percent lifetime money back guarantee. We always want our customers to be completely satisfied."

Features of the caliper include a zero setting at any position, manual power on and off button, and a resolution of 0.01 mm or 0.0005 inch. It offers various accuracy ranges as well, that will fit most projects. One

Amazon customer is already pleased with his purchase. William Worley said, "I needed an inexpensive digital caliper for using during repairing my home used tools. This scale worked nicely. It is battery powered, which was a plus for me. The scale came with two sets of batteries. It is easy to use and it has a conversion function."
