Infinit Lash Products, based in Del Mar, California, has announced that they have published a blog post that offers advice on how to determine the best eyelash extension glue for a particular person. The article is designed to help those who are feeling overwhelmed with the various choices and opinions that are available. According to the article, there are number of factors to consider in order to find the best suited for a person. These include climate, the speed of the person in applying lashes, the sensitivity of the person to certain chemicals and fumes, retention, and preference.

Tasha Land, a professional lash artist and Infinit Lash Products founder, says, "We are very excited to have released a blog post that can guide people on how to find the best glue for their lash extensions. There are number of factors to consider before you can make your choice. That is why we have five different kinds of Infinit Lash Products adhesives for lash extensions. We have the Sensitive, Sensitive Plus, Classic, Volume, and Volume Plus."

The article on how to choose the best eyelash extension glue discusses the five main factors to consider when choose the best one for a particular person. Climate is important because temperature and humidity can affect the performance of the glue. For those who live in places with higher humidity, the glue will cure more quickly. On the other hand, for those who live in drier climates, the glue will take a bit longer to cure.

Then there is the matter of speed. This is the speed with which the person is able to apply the lash extensions. This is related to the first factor, which is climate. For those in humid climates, they have only a short time in which to attach the lash extensions. Thus, the faster drying glues are for those who are already experienced in putting on the lash extensions. And the slower drying ones are for those who are still new.

Another factor to consider is sensitivity. Some people may be sensitive to the fumes emitted by the adhesive. That is why Infnit Lash Products has the Sensitive and Sensitive Plus variants of their lash extension adhesives. They have the least amount of fumes in order to avoid causing irritation to the sensitive person.

Still another factor to consider is retention. This is how long the lash extensions will stay in place. Clients usually don't want to return every week for a fill. That is why Infnit Lash Products has five variants for its lash extension adhesive, with Sensitive having the shortest retention time of 4 to 5 weeks. On the other extreme is Volume Plus, which can last from 7 to 8 weeks. Unfortunately, the longer the retention time, the more fumes the adhesive has. Thus, those who are sensitive to the fumes have to settle for the shortest retention time of 4 to 5 weeks.

And then there is the matter of preference. Some people may prefer an adhesive with low viscosity while others may prefer one with a thicker viscosity. That is why Infnit Lash Products has five variants of the eyelash extension adhesives, ranging from Sensitive to Sensitive Plus, up to Volume Plus, with Sensitive having the least viscosity and Volume Plus having the highest viscosity.

Tasha Land explains, "At the end of the day only you can decide which factors are most important to you. Maybe you like a thinner silkier adhesive over one with a thicker viscosity, or you prefer to have a few extra seconds to make adjustments even though you could work faster."

Infnit Lash Products ensures that all of the types of lash extension glue do not contain latex or formaldehyde to make sure that clients will have peace of mind. Each item has been personally sourced and salon tested to make sure that the quality is unsurpassed.
