

Managing Partner of Express Employment Recognized for Outstanding Results of Oregon City Staffing Solutions

April 08, 2019

April 08, 2019 -

Oregon City, Ore. - Tina Irvine, Managing Partner of Express Employment Professionals, a leader in Oregon staffing solutions, was recently highlighted by the Downtown Oregon City Association during Women's History Month.

The organization works collaboratively with facilitators, coordinators and together with partners as a catalyst to generate a positive downtown image, preserve historic and cultural landmarks and stimulate economic vitality and investment in downtown and in Oregon City.

Tina Irvine was highlighted online as well as commended by multiple peers on social media for her outstanding commitment to the local community by providing workforce solutions and Oregon City jobs and surrounding communities. The leader in the community was described as an outgoing and driven single mother to a wonderful 10-year-old boy, a proud business owner and a force for good in the world.

When reached for comment Tina stated, "It is essential to the continued development and growth of Clackamas County that we remain steadfast in our commitment to developing a diverse and dynamic workforce that will meet the needs of our future employers. When we as a community value the work of ALL people, we model that everyone's efforts are vital to our community's prosperity."

Tina is the Managing Partner at Express Employment Professionals in Downtown Oregon City. With 15 years of experience at Express, she has owned her office since 2014 and moved to 900 Main Street in 2015. She is the Chair of Clackamas Workforce Partnership along with being active in several other community-based organizations.
