April 16, 2019 -
West Orange, NJ based Gastro Center NJ is pleased to announce that it is now widely considered one of the top gastroenterologists in New Jersey, prioritising the digestive health of all its patients. ?Our highly trained professional gastroenterologists treat our patients with the most modern approaches and the most advanced medical technologies. We work towards accommodating the unique needs of every patient. We understand the value of health and happiness for your body and mind,? says the clinic.

Gastroenterology is the study and care of organs in the gastrointestinal system, the internal network that digests food in the body. The mouth, esophagus, stomach, liver, gallbladder, pancreas, large intestine (or colon), small intestine, and anus are all studied and treated under gastroenterology. Every organ in the digestive system has a role in transporting nutrients throughout the body, and the failure of any of those organs can cause a number of side effects that can vary from mildly irritating to absolutely debilitating. Gastroenterologists, like those found at the Gastro Center NJ, make it their job to ensure that the entire gastroenterological system works efficiently at all times.

The Gastro Center NJ consider themselves more than just a clinic. They believe in the importance of uniquely assessing each patient, from diagnosis to post-treatment education. The Gastro Center NJ understands the difficulty of living with gastrointestinal problems, and the clinic?s gastroenterologists are committed to a lifestyle of lifelong learning, striving to ensure that they provide the latest and most trusted diagnoses and treatment practices. The clinic affirms that, ?At the Gastro Center NJ, every patient is given the utmost care and attention. From simple procedures to advanced gastroenterology care, we can provide the world class and modern care that you deserve.?

The clinic recommends taking a number of steps to determine if one is suffering from gastrointestinal problems. Rectal bleeding, acid reflux, bloating, indigestion, excessive heartburn, diarrhea, constipation and a number of other symptoms can be signs that something is wrong in an individual?s gastrointestinal system. To treat these issues, the Gastro Center NJ offers a number of services that only specialized clinics are capable of.

To begin with, colonoscopies are generally performed on people over the age of 45 to detect different forms of colorectal cancer. It involves inserting an endoscope into the patient?s GI tract. Capsule endoscopy relies on a small camera placed inside a capsule that is then swallowed, accomplishing the same objective as a colonoscopy. More on the clinic and its procedures can be found at https://gastro-center-nj.business.site/.

The clinic also performs hemorrhoid ablations to treat hemorrhoids. This procedure uses infrared light to reduce the swelling of the hemorrhoids, thus allowing the skin to return to its natural state. To identify issues involving abdominal pain, heartburn, vomiting, and swallowing, the Gastro Center NJ offers Upper Endoscopies, along with a number of other procedures to help identify a wide range of issues.

The head physician at Gastro Center NJ is Dr. Theodore A. DaCosta. He is an award winning gastroenterologist and specialist in Internal Medicine, having worked in multiple fields of medicine for over 29 years. An expert in the diagnosis and treatment of conditions involving the digestive/gastrointestinal tract, he treats patients experiencing a number of stomach issues, from diarrhea to Crohn?s disease, ulcers and more.

Dr. DaCosta?s gastroenterology practice has received a number of positive reviews. ?The service at the Gastro Center NJ gastroenterology practice is superb. I got my appointment scheduled, and I was on the table within a week. There were no complications, and they got rid of my bad polyps. If you want to get checked for colon cancer, these guys are the right choice,? says a review by Cathy W.
