July 10, 2015

July 10, 2015 -

Independent occupational therapists will soon have the opportunity to benefit from a special business clinic designed for therapists who run their own practices.

The business clinic is being delivered by Mike Glynn the founder of MG Retail Consulting. With many years retail experience with leading brands such as B&Q and Simply Health Glynn has specialised in turnarounds and business growth. MG Retail provides consultancy for a number of companies in the health sector and is now looking to deliver courses for established independent occupational therapists that are ready to take their practice to the next level.

Commissioned by COTSS-IP, the College of Occupational Therapists? specialist section for independent practitioners, it will help practitioners plan monthly goals, identify how best to invest in their practices, and understand how to embrace new business strategies.

MG Retail Consulting will also provide a new range of business resources for the Specialist Section?s 700 members to access on the COTSS-IP website.

COTSS-IP?s Chairwoman Lynda Niles says: "The collaboration will bring valuable business proficiency to occupational therapists who are looking to improve their business knowledge and grow their practices in the rapidly changing healthcare economy.?

Glynn said: "I'm pleased that COTSS-IP is supporting independent occupational therapists to build their businesses. The business clinic will help provide clarity, creativity and simplicity to their business growth plans.?

The clinic will take place at the annual COTSS-IP conference in Stratford-upon-Avon on 12th October 2015. For more details visit the website.

MG Retail Consulting will also be presenting seminars at Trade Days 2015 in October at the NEC Birmingham. The focus will be on what retailers need to be doing to stay competitive in the marketplace.
