

Local Pest Control Company Offers Summer Pest Control Tips

April 12, 2019

April 12, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Purge Pest Control Naperville issued a list of summer best practices for controlling summer pests today. Purge Pest's General Manager stated, "Now's the time to start preparing your defenses for the summer. Once the bugs are out in full force it's often too late, and then you're in a situation where you almost have to hire an expert."

One of the tips provided in their post include blocking entry to the home. The company stated, "If you can make it difficult for pests to find an entry point, then you're leaps and bounds ahead of most homeowners and you've already won half the battle. We offer free inspections to identify areas where our exclusion services would best be applied." Having a trained pest professional in the Naperville, IL area inspect the home is one possible approach to identifying potential entry points.

Another recommendation from the company included getting rid of standing water. Purge's mosquito specialist stated, "Standing water is a breeding ground for mosquitoes, so walking your property, identifying and dealing with standing water issues is extremely important if you want to limit your exposure to mosquitoes."

Purge Pest Control Naperville also provides other recommendations like eating fruits and vegetables in a timely fashion and maintaining landscaping. Trimming bushes and trees near the house, removing weeds and keeping debris at bay are all maintenance items that Purge Pest suggests a homeowner in Naperville address to maintain a pest free home. The full blog post can be found on Purge Pest's official website.
