April 25, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Dependable Homebuyers in Washington DC is pleased to announce that they now purchase distressed houses in the local area. Homeowners in that region can sell their homes no matter what condition it is in, or what circumstances it has been through. No repairs to the walls, windows, and so forth have to be made when selling to this company, they are willing, ?to pay top dollar,? for such buildings.

Normally, homeowners do a lot of work in and around a property to make it sell for a higher price, or just sell quicker. Dependable Homebuyers do it differently, homeowners don?t need to focus on curb appeal by landscaping the surrounding area to make the house stand out. The team of expert valuers at the company can give an accurate price without the hassle of doing things like: mowing yards in diagonal stripes in order to make the yard seem larger, taking care to mow the edges of the lawn to show buyers that it was well maintained, or planting tulips and flowers near the walkway giving positive vibes to open house visitors.

Home staging is usually the most important aspect of selling a home as it helps those interested envision themselves in the building. This can be done by removing furniture that takes up too much space and emptying out rooms so that a buyer's imagination can fill the space instead. By taking out personal influences involved in house decorations, interested parties can instead make the room into whatever they want to see, increasing their chances of buying it. All of this however, isn't possible when a home is in a distressed condition, the costs of fixing the property are often too high to make the difference in value worthwhile. Fixing a property is also financially taxing, and even the most financially fortunate in society may struggle to afford the necessary costs associated with making the property sellable.

Even though it's not necessary when selling a home to the company, it is a good idea to still pay attention to details. This could be in the form of minor improvements, such as washing the inside and outside of windows, putting out fresh flowers, polishing the floors, or just fluffing pillows and making sure there are fresh towels. These little details can add up to create an overall better impression of the home on the company's valuers. Dependable Homebuyers does its best to help sellers, as they believe that, "selling your home in Washington DC should not be a difficult process." In addition, they state that their, "mission is to ensure that every homeowner in Washington DC can sell their properties quickly and easily without the need for a real estate agent. As a team of experienced real estate professionals, they understand the local neighborhood and are ready to provide you a guaranteed cash offer within 24 hours." They strive to be transparent by working directly with buyers, something that is not often seen in the real estate business.

The company notes that homeowners often have difficulties selling off "hoarder homes." Generally, these homes are filled with the effects of hoarding, usually with rooms filled with junk and such that make it inappropriate or unsightly to include on a tour. This makes them difficult to clean and it is even harder to repair the hidden damages. Indeed, it could be difficult to sell to anyone; however, Dependable Homebuyers has acquired such homes in the past and will continue to do so. Their wealth of expertise helps in this field as they know how to clean the house up for less money, allowing them to pay owners a decent amount of cash while still retaining a profitable business model.

They currently have a five-star review on Google. Reviewer Megan Miller states, "The home buyers at Dependable Homebuyers are both honest and trustworthy. Their house buying process is simple and straightforward. No realtors needed. If you need to sell your house fast, then Dependable Homebuyers is a great option."
