April 23, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Nova Graphene CEO Paul Beasant of Halifax had the honor of participating as a panelist at the Marine Additive Manufacturing Center of Excellence at Innovacorp - a regional Venture Capital group and incubator.

As a panelist with industry leaders and additive manufacturing professors from Dalhousie and UNB, Mr. Beasant spoke about the use of Graphene to create opportunities in the additive manufacturing sector. Additionally, the work that Nova Graphene was doing to help MAMCE in its mission is to ensure the adoption of additive manufacturing in the industrial marine sector of Canada by developing methods, procedures, and effective workforce training systems.
