July 14, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

It is with great pride that 3 Bees and Me, announced earlier that their promotion for the travel changing pad was a smashing success. More than the new orders and valued customers, the company is much happier that a lot more parents appreciate their product. According to them, the reception they received is overwhelming and that it has inspired them to continue looking for ways to improve their products, promotions and customer service.

?Even before the promotion, the changing diaper station was already a hit especially among moms who are always on the go,? says 3 Bees and Me spokesperson, Holly James. ?Many of them consider the 3 Bees and Me diaper clutch to be the best changing pad because it is small and compact enough so it can easily fit into bigger bags or it can be carried around like a clutch purse.?

The black and white Chevron design exudes class that it can be carried even by men. It also has a strap that can be attached to a baby stroller. Based on the reviews seen at www.amazon.com/Bees-Me-Changing-Diaper-Clutch/dp/B000OAM70S the diaper changing pad clutch is preferred by many because it is very convenient to carry compared to big diaper bags. It has also become a very popular baby shower gift for pregnant women.

This diaper station is made of waterproof material making it easy to clean and sanitize. It is perfect for those who do not want to spend too much time cleaning up after every diaper change. It has a couple of compartments that can house diapers, baby clothes, small baby toys and wipes. It also has a zippered pocket in front where parents can put in their money and keys. For the pad, it is large and wide, but foldable to fit into the clutch. One thing that makes this product a standout is the design of its pad. It has a unique wing design to ensure the baby's hands will not touch dirty surfaces during diaper change.
