July 18, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Triple E Holdings, a business in Wellington, FL are proud to announce that they have launched their brand new website, as well as having started to add their Amazon listings link to it. As a result, customers can now turn to various channels in order to view, purchase, and review the products that the company offers following estate sales and auctions, including crystal bone china. The sites and listings are designed to give more people the opportunity to get their hands on unique and high quality products.

"We now have several channels showcasing our products such as Twitter, Facebook and of course, Amazon listings," says Frank Dinozo, support manager at Triple E Holdings.

The Amazon listings have been designed to provide real clarity of all the details of the various products. Real life photographs of each of the pieces have been provided and the prices are also clearly listed. Any brand information is also included in the description, allowing people to do their own research on the value and history of the crystal bone china. The listings also state whether the product is new or used and whether there are matching items in a set. Unsurprisingly, more often than not there is only one of each item available, so people are encouraged to check back frequently for updates.

Managing partner Bill Noble was quoted as saying, "keep your eyes on the news: we have acquisitions we're going to be announcing, as well as additional sales channels and new lines of products. This is a very exciting time to be a part of Triple E Holdings. There is a lot going on."

Triple E Holdings is also utilizing social media to their advantage, having recently opened up their Twitter account. Any news worthy items, such as upcoming acquisitions or auctions, are listed on here. Additionally, information about the various products and their history is also included. As such, the Twitter page is also an opportunity for people to make sure they are the first to know whenever a product becomes available, ensuring they don't miss out because they only checked the Amazon listings once every day.
