Three C Body Shops, a statewide chain which services many areas in Ohio, is one of the leading providers of a variety of different auto repair services, regardless of the size and scope of the job. Three C has been in business for several decades. In addition, they are also capable of providing assessments which can tell you how much the value of your vehicle has diminished.

All repairs at Three C Body Shops are completed using OEM parts, or original equipment manufacturer parts, which means they are of the highest quality and designed specifically for use in the vehicle which is being repaired.

About Three C Body Shops

Three C Body Shops was founded in 1956 by the Juniper family of Columbus, Ohio. Since that time, it has expanded to become a trusted name in the auto repair service world. The business is still family owned today with Bob Juniper, who is the second generation owner and serves as the president and CEO of the company.

Three C Body Shops is proud to be a leader in using the latest cutting edge diagnostic technology to help quickly and accurately identify what is going on with a customer's car with the purpose of getting it repaired and back to them as soon as humanly possible. The firm is also known for being a rigorous believer in continuing education, as they require each employee who works for them to take an additional twenty hours of training per year.

Three C has managed to thrive for over 60 years by merging high-quality and affable customer service with cutting edge diagnostics and the use of skilled, dedicated technicians who care about each car they work on. They intend to continue expanding throughout Ohio and providing high-quality auto repair services to whoever may be in need of them.
