Chem-Dry of Park City has announced that they have expanded their carpet cleaning services in Park City, Utah. Aside from carpet cleaning they also offer pet urine removal, water damage restoration, rug cleaning, upholstery cleaning, tile & grout cleaning, and granite countertop restoration. They pride themselves of their capability to offer the high quality service for carpet cleaning Park City Utah residents require.

Daryl Olsen, owner of Chem-Dry of Park City, says, "We are happy to announce that we have expanded our carpet cleaning services for the residents of Park City. We are one of the world's leading carpet and upholstery cleaning companies and we use the finest and most powerful equipment and best cleaning solutions to give the best clean for your carpet. We pride ourselves with quality service to give the clean you are looking for at a great cost. Having a professional clean your carpet can improve the carpet cleaning experience by offering you a better solution to getting to the bottom of your cleaning job."

For their carpet cleaning services, the team from Chem-Dry of Park City uses the power of carbonation to extract more dirt and grime from the carpet by getting deep down into the fibers. An important advantage of this technique is that it only uses half the amount of moisture compared to other steam cleaners. The result is that the cleaned carpet dries faster and this will prevent the growth of mold or mildew under the carpet. Their unique cleaning solution is capable of bringing the dirt up to the surface so that it can easily be removed. Furthermore, their kind of cleaning is safe and non-toxic for both children and pets.

Chem-Dry of Park City also offers pet urine removal treatment because pets love to stay on the carpet and this leads to urine on the carpet. Pet urine odors tend to be strong and the stench can be irritating. This carpet cleaning company makes use of a state-of-the-art cleaning product that uses a chemical reaction to break down the urine smell. They can pinpoint the locations of pet urine on the carpet and then get rid of the pet urine odors using their advanced cleaning product.

Pet urine removal treatment is essential because the urine stench can affect the whole house and the health and wellness of the residents. The team from Chem-Dry advises homeowners to have pet urine removed as soon as possible because the urine tends to penetrate the carpet fibers and seep into the flooring under the carpet. The longer that it is left unattended, the deeper the urine gets into the flooring and the more difficult it becomes to remove it.

Chem-Dry also offers rug cleaning. Rugs are quite different from carpets because they are often much more detailed and a lot more valuable. While some people may think that they can do the rug cleaning themselves, they may end up doing it inappropriately and damage the rug. A professional cleaner can actually prolong the life of the rug, so it is actually a better investment than doing the cleaning oneself.

Another part of the home that Chem-Dry can take care of are the upholstered furniture. Because of daily wear and usage, the furniture can gather dirt, grime, pollen, dust mites and other contamination and these must be removed regularly to protect the health of the family. In particular, dust mites need to be removed because they can easily multiply because their food consists of dead human skin cells, which are quite abundant in the furniture. Unfortunately, the feces of the dust mites can cause sickness in people.

The company also offers water damage restoration services. While some people tend to ignore water damage, especially when it is quite small like the ones resulting from small leaks, this can result into mold growth, which can negatively affect the family's health. Furthermore, water damage can affect the structural quality of the home.
