MT Construction Ltd, based in Reading, UK, has announced their building services in Maidenhead, a large market town in Berkshire, England. They are offering building services for domestic projects, commercial services, design and planning, and home improvements. They provide a way for taking the customer?s project from idea to completion, and they are offering free quotes.

Martin Thrift, managing director for MT Construction Ltd, says, ?We are very pleased to announce that we are now able to offer our services to people and businesses in Maidenhead. We are a 3rd generation family of builders that as a family have been building for over 65 years. We offer a comprehensive, honest and reliable building service and are committed in developing a trust between the company and its customers by providing a high quality service and excellent workmanship.?

First of all, they are capable of handling domestic projects in Maidenhead. The team at MT Construction Ltd has the experience of building homes across the South of England. They have proven themselves to be capable of doing everything from the groundwork to the brickwork, electrical systems to decorating and building a home. And for those who already have a house to start with, the company also offers building services for extensions and conversions. Whether it is a house, garage, loft or barn, the team has the skills and experience to build extension or do conversions.

They can also do high quality alterations and refurbishments in order to make a house suitable for a growing family, without the hassle of having to move to a new home. They can offer refurbishments for the exterior, bathrooms, living areas, and kitchen. They can also do extensions for the kitchen and living space, add a new front porch, or do some small garden landscaping.

The company also provides commercial services in Maidenhead. The builders at MT Construction Ltd can take any old shop and convert it into something that is entirely new and suitable for the business, such as a retail store, coffee shop, restaurant, and more. The experienced team can also handle refurbishments and refits for office spaces as fast as possible so that the company can get back to work as soon as possible.

They will work with the customer in order to build an office space that looks professional and will promote productivity in its workers. The team can do the same thing with commercial buildings, working with the customer right at the very start to make sure that the resulting commercial space will be suitable for maximising business potential. They also ensure that the working environment will be comfortable for the workers when they do commercial improvements, refurbishments, and refits.

MT Construction Ltd can also help with the design and planning. They have an in-house architect that can help transform the customer?s idea or vision into something that is realistic, and will help in putting the plans on paper to serve as guide for the project. During the first design and planning meetings, the in-house architect will try to bring out the customer?s ideas and then design and plan for the realization of that vision. The architect and the building team will then issue a quote for the project and if the customer accepts it, the architect can start with the development of the building plans.

And finally, MT Construction Ltd can help with home improvements. With this, homeowners and their families need not look for a new home that suits their needs. Kitchens, bathrooms, living rooms, garages and other parts of the home can be expanded and renovated to provide the desired space, furnishings and decorations. The team can also help the customer source and fit doors and windows that are appropriate for the home.

MT Construction Ltd is a family-run business that combines the traditional techniques taught and used by their family for many years with the modern technology that is now available in providing building services.
