

SMM Releases New Oven Mitts With A Guarantee To Stop Grilling Burns

July 23, 2015

July 23, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

SMM Group LLC in Las Vegas, NV has recently announced their release of a new oven mitt, guaranteed to take away the risk of burning when grilling. The revolutionary new gloves are 932 degree extreme heat resistant, EN407 certified, and have hit the Amazon marketplace in a blaze of glory.

Mike, founder of SMM Group, is pleased with the attention that the new gloves have been getting, saying, "Everyone loves to grill, but I don't know anyone who likes the burn that can often come with grilling. Our new oven mitts are guaranteed to keep you safe, so you can grill to your heart's content."

Grill Heat Aid gloves are made from high-quality materials, and absorb even the slightest amount of heat. They are lightweight and feature silicone strips for a good grip and complete safety. The mitts feature an exterior layer of Para & Meta aramid fibers. The fibers insulate the hands and protect them from high temperatures. An interior layer of cotton is provided for comfort. They are machine washable, and cover past the wrist for added protection. The thickness allows the wearer to do a number of things with the gloves on, while still protecting from burns.

"I don't just use them for grilling. They're great for in the house, carrying logs for the fire, and even changing light bulbs," says one satisfied Amazon customer. The outer layer of the mitts are fire retardant, and the lightweight material allows for the fingers to move freely. Silicone strips are located on the back and the palm of each hand, allowing for extra-secure grip when holding and carrying items.

SMM Group, LLC provides items to consumers that assist with a number of daily tasks. Their newest mitts are one in a wide collection of products that Amazon customers have been enjoying for some time. The Grill Heat Aid has gained many positive reviews on the Amazon marketplace since their release, and more positive reviews are being added every day.

The company offers a 100% money back guarantee, in addition to a free lifetime replacement for each set of oven mitts. Those looking for more information can visit SMM Group online.
