Teesnow is pleased to announce that their products and services are now available in Sydney, catering to the city?s active base of customised apparel buyers. ?Many of our customers have said they wished we were also in Sydney. We listened to them, and we are now open for any order?small or large,? said Polu Chan of Teesnow.

The company has added a range of infant, kid, and youth sized sweatshirts (with and without hoods and pockets), and tee-shirts, which can be ordered as tanks, short, or long sleeves. These are the perfect complement to their complete range of women?s and men?s apparel.

Business or clubs who need specialised Hi-Vis clothing may think they have to go to very expensive suppliers. However, they would be delighted to learn that Teesnow has a range of Hi-Vis apparel that can be customised by screen printing, sublimation printing, or vinyl heat pressing. The company can also supply a wide range of bags, from duffel bags to totes and string bags, as well as backpacks and travel bags, all of which can also all be customised.

?Our customers love having their custom made apparel and items?we can print on just about anything, including cushions, pillow cases, hats, and sticker decals. As long as the surface is flat and the material can withstand the heat of curing the ink, we can print on it,? said Chan.

Many Australians will be familiar with Teesnow and their online shop, which operates all over the country. It has a 5-star rating on One Flare, a review service that verifies all businesses in the area. A previous client, Russell, who had a bucks party and needed 14 tee-shirts in various sizes on short notice, had this to say in his 5-star review for Teesnow on One Flare, ?Polu from Teesnow is amazing. He was quick and very helpful. I had a deadline to meet and he shipped the t-shirts the same day of contacting me. I couldn?t recommend them enough!?

Customers looking for cheap t-shirt printing optins will soon find out that Teesnow boasts some of the most competitive prices in the market, especially for those who need an express rush if their originally supplier cannot deliver their order on time. Since they specialise in quick-turnaround custom t-shirt printing, Teesnow can fulfil express orders for most simple t-shirts with a short run.

Teesnow can take on bulk orders too. Luke Peterson gave Teesnow a 5-star reviewing, saying. ?Very responsive to emails, bulk ordered shirts were printed incredibly quickly and arrived only a couple days later in perfect quality. Highly recommended if you want the job done reliably and fast.? With over 10 years? experience in printing garments, customers can rely on Teesnow to advise how best to take their idea and turn it into a reality that arrives on schedule. ?We work with our customers to create a one-of-a-kind look,? confirmed Chan.

Those who wish to promote their business often require event driven apparel to help capture the moment and team spirit of the day. The vast array of available shirt styles for women and men means they can have something truly unique. All they need to do is to pick out the style, size, and quantities. ?We also offer all over sublimation printing as well as cut and sew custom t-shirts,? added Chan. ?If you need t-shirts printed quickly, we are the right place.?

The company, like many digital-savvy e-commerce companies, attributes a lot of their success to hard work and staying up to date with what their customers want. They recently set up an online Media Room to provide better coverage of their products and services.

The company offers designs suitable for work, adults, and children?s events. Customers can begin with one of the standard templates and customise as desired to create a fresh and unique design. The designs can be as simple or as complex as the customer wants, and can be utilized to celebrate anniversaries, acknowledge participation in events, signify membership to clubs or teams, or herald any notable occasion.
