May 16, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Los Angeles DUI Lawyer, one of the leading advocates for anyone facing a DUI or impaired driving offences, has announced that they can challenge the technical points for both DUI breathalyzer and Copyright Infringement Lawsuits. A spokesperson for the firm said, "We promise to do our best for our clients, and as their zealous advocate, we will always strive to get the best possible result for them."

Many people are under the impression that there is no way to get a DUI Refusal Dismissed Los Angeles. In fact, Los Angeles DUI Lawyers have an excellent track record of getting a DUI refusal dismissed in the courts of Los Angeles. They have the experience in contesting a criminal charge arising when anyone suspected of driving under the influence refuses to give a breath sample, as well as many other impaired driving charges as well.

Anyone trying to defend themselves against a DUI refusal should be aware of the consequences, which include penalties in addition to the standard California DUI penalties and a mandatory driver's license suspension that will occur regardless of the outcome in the DUI case. If proven guilty, even first time offenders face additional jail time, and a 2 year license revocation.

For anyone without a criminal record, a refusal to blow may cost them dearly by getting a record and losing their good reputation. However, Los Angeles DUI Lawyers can act as an advocate and argue the case on all the technical procedures which must be followed. They will zealously advocate on their client's behalf to focus on a number of issues which could be a legitimate reason for refusing a breathalyzer, including mental grounds, where the accused was unable to understand the demand made or the effects of the refusal, incapacitation due to medical reason, as well as not being given the right to meet or consult with counsel before providing the breath sample. There are many other reasons which can be argued for refusing a breathalyzer which can be discussed during a free consultation with one of their highly experienced lawyers.

That same attention to the very technical details makes the Los Angeles DUI Lawyer firm one of the best options when fighting any copyright infringement lawsuits. Copyright infringement can affect almost everyone in the digital world, even if they are not a media company, artists or online personality. Understanding the law is essential, particularly around intellectual property (IP) and the definition of fair use.

Whether it is someone facing charges for infringement, or someone who feels their IP has been infringed, obtaining a zealous advocate who will go the extra mile to argue their client's case, it is important to know that these cases can take a significant time to be settled.

Last month, the US Supreme Court decided two copyright cases which impact copyright owners. The first decision was that copyright owners obtain a registration from the US Copyright office prior to filing an infringement action. The second decision determined that, "full" costs in the Copyright Act did not authorize the appellate court to award litigations costs beyond those specified by Congress in the general costs statute.

Los Angeles DUI Lawyer can advocate on a client's behalf or advise a firm that employs staff that need to learn about IP. "Because registration can take several months, it's important to work with a lawyer you trust to keep up with all the current work to ensure all works are covered under copyright," said a company spokesperson, "We can help people understand the guidelines that can help them in properly sharing content, and explain how to avoid the possibility of trespassing on the rights of content owners and creators."

Looking forward, it is likely that copyright infringement may become much more litigious in light of these recent Supreme Court rulings. However, it is unlikely that they will out rank the number of DUI related offenses which have constituted the bulk of criminal cases on trial in the courts in Los Angeles or California. For clients, it is important for them to have a firm like Los Angeles DUI Lawyer who will research the extenuating circumstances and zealously advocate on the best possible terms should the case go to court.

Anyone looking for Impaired Driving Lawyer Los Angeles can see the firm has consistently defended clients on DUI charges by challenging the prosecution on highly technical grounds. That same attention to detail is what makes them a good choice when seeking an advocate for charges where there may be extenuating reasons, technical issues or intensive research required to understand how to build a proper defense.

Los Angeles DUI Lawyer is committed to always provide the best defense for their clients. They will use their extensive knowledge and experience and the California law to protect the rights of clients and boost their chances of getting a positive result.
