

New Car Sunshade Released Specifically For Trucks And Other Large Vehicles

July 16, 2015

July 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

X-Shade, a business operating out of Miami, FL, has released their new Car Sunshade Extra Grande Jumbo Shields Vehicle From The Sun on Amazon. The listing can be viewed on <http://www.amazon.com/dp/B00KGGTGO4>. Being an extra large vehicle window sun screen, it is particularly suitable for RVs, trucks and even buses. These vehicles are often forgotten in the window shade industry and X-Shade aims to break through this market.

"Trucks and other large vehicles have the biggest windows of all, meaning they also trap the highest amount of sunshine," says Ori Firouz from X-Shade. "Yet most sunscreen manufacturers focus only on regular vehicles. We wanted to break through that and offer something for which there is an immediate and serious demand, particularly now that the summer months are upon us."

To celebrate the launch of the shades, the company is offering them at a 10% discount for a limited time only. To access the discount, customers must sign up through the <http://www.x-shade.com/> website. They can then apply the coupon at the online checkout at Amazon. By signing up, customers become VIP members. This, in turn, means that customers will receive notifications of new products and further discounts before anyone else.

X-Shades is also very keen on promoting the work they do in terms of vehicle safety, in relation to heat particularly. "With the summer months fast approaching, we are bracing ourselves for the annual dead pets and even dead children stories," adds Ori Firouz. "In some countries, it has now been made legal to smash in the windows of a vehicle in which a pet is left in the heat. We want to make sure people truly understand just how dangerous overheating in a vehicle can be, and how quickly it can occur as well."

Information on these issues, the X-Shade products, and more can be found on the company's Facebook page on <https://www.facebook.com/pages/X-Shade-Child-Safety-and-Car-Accessories/239658779538583>. This is also an opportunity for people to join a community where they can discuss how they have used the shades and what the greatest benefits of the shades have been so far.
