Blush Personal Care, a bath and body company in Cedar Crest, NM have recently launched their bath gift sets on Amazon. The sets are designed to give women a luxurious, all-natural spa-like experience in the comfort of their own home. Since first being released, the gift sets have already received numerous positive reviews.

"Our gift sets contain everything a woman could possibly want to have a lovely spa experience in her own home," says Mark Harden founder of Blush Personal Care. "They include a handmade artisan bar of soap, sea salt body scrub, body moisturizing lotion and a scented aromatherapy candle. This bath set comes in three lovely scent varieties: lavender, citrus, and eucalyptus. They all help provide a calming, relaxing atmosphere."

All products included in the sets are handmade in the USA. They contain high quality, natural ingredients. The scents are provided by pure essential oils, which mean those who use them can experience the best therapeutic benefits of the essential oil scents. The products are made in small batches to achieve a higher quality product and Blush Personal Care prides itself on focusing solely on true, natural quality and craftsmanship.

The products are free of harmful chemicals. This includes parabens, sulfates, DEA, TEA and petrochemicals. As a result, the product can get to work in moisturizing the skin, leaving it smelling and feeling beautiful. This is something the various positive reviews have already picked up on. "This is a very nice bath gift set!" says Jessica. "Most of the time, these types of gift sets are cheap, made in China, and do not have organic and natural ingredients like this one does. I was very happy to find one with products that you'd expect to find at a Whole Foods or other natural health store."

The bath gift sets are presented in a beautiful color printed display box. They make wonderful gifts to give for a special occasion, or to just keep for a special get away at home.
