

Holistic Dentist In Dallas Shares Earth Day With Their Patients

May 11, 2019

May 11, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Arlington, Texas based Pride Dental recently commemorated this year's Earth Day by inviting their patients to visit their website, where the dental care center regularly adds new valuable resources for the community.

The Arlington based dental care facility invited patients to visit their website, as the company regularly updates it with new material to help visitors maintain good dental hygiene. Some of the articles published in Pride Dental's blog cover topics relevant to their patients, such as How to Get Contaminant-Free Water, where the company outlines some of the best alternatives to regular bottled water; How to Remove Pesticide Residues from Fresh Fruit & Veg, where the dental care center shares their knowledge and provides tips on removing residues that may be contaminating one's food; and Fake Sweet, Real Concern.

While a few of the articles published by Pride Dental may not seem to be relevant to dental care, this is in line with the clinic's holistic approach to dentistry, as they firmly believe that oral hygiene and proper care affect different aspects of the human body. Holistic Dentistry takes into account a person's entire state of physical and emotional health, and holistic dentists use natural therapies (often in combination with conventional counterparts) to prevent, diagnose, and treat diseases of the oral cavity.

A representative of the clinic said, "We invite all of the community to visit our website to learn more about this innovative approach to dental care. Our website is not only a gateway for new patients to find us; it is a useful resource for our current patients and people from all around the country to learn more about our specialization. We even have a wide selection of resources that include tips on keeping good oral hygiene for those who are not interested in learning about holistic dentistry. We invite everyone to visit our website, where we guarantee that you'll find something of your interest."

Overall, Pride Dental's website is filled with useful resources for their patients. Aside from the section titled Patient Education, which is where the Texas-based dental care center publishes their blog updates, Pride Dental offers a complete list of the services provided by the company, complemented by a comprehensive, detailed description of the procedure that is performed. Some of Pride Dental's most popular services include Cosmetic Dentistry, Teeth Whitening, Biological Dentistry, Safe Mercury Removal Fillings, Crowns, Implants, and many others.

The representative continued, "Neglecting proper dental care is something that affects more than the teeth and gums. Not having proper oral hygiene also often leads to other health issues and complications, as research has shown strong links between poor oral health and heart disease, stroke, diabetes, and cardiovascular diseases. For these reasons, when a new patient visits us at Pride Dental, we ask for their medical history records with the purpose of checking different aspects of their body's health and ensuring that we provide the most complete service that suits their needs."

Pride Dental relies on a team of highly qualified dentists with many years of experience in the field. Both of Pride Dental's doctors share the same vision, which is, "To help the community, raise awareness of the importance of oral hygiene, and to deliver top-notch services." A review written by a patient on Yelp says: "From the amazing dentists, including the friendly and professional office staff, to the very soothing zen of the waiting room, the whole experience at Pride Dental is top notch. I have spent a lot of time in the dentist's office in my life and Pride Dental has been the best experience so far. I had two old crowns redone lately. The doctor in charge was so gentle, I had no problems at all afterwards. I definitely recommend Pride Dental's services, as they have now become my favorite specialists."

Those interested in scheduling an appointment with one of Pride Dental's doctors may visit their website and fill in the included contact form. Patients may also find more information regarding what to expect during their visit on the website. They may also connect with the clinic through their social media platforms.
