Christchurch based financial aid provider Need Money Now would like to make the residents of Christchurch and the rest of New Zealand aware of their financial aid services. Most banks are unwilling to help those with bad credit and often require that clients seeking financial aid go through an incredibly long and complicated application process. Need Money Now, however, is prepared to come to the aid of those same clients. Learn more by following this link: NeedMoneyNow.

People usually seek aid due to a financial emergency of some sort, and emergencies often require immediate attention. Other financial aid providers often have extremely complicated application processes that make getting cash unnecessarily difficult, which only adds to the stress of having to pay bills while having no money. Need Money Now strives to ensure that the process of applying for financial aid and receiving cash is as quick and simple as possible. Clients can apply and have cash deposited straight to their bank account in as few as 60 minutes from the application being approved.

The process is kept as quick and simple as possible. Need Money Now understands that many of their clients are already dealing with a lot of stress and that making the application process long and complicated can be an unwelcome burden. ?Our process is easy,? affirms Need Money Now. ?There is no printing, no paperwork, and no signing of documents. Instead, you can simply sign your financial aid agreement online using your mouse or trackpad.? The application is processed entirely online, which removes the need for the client to fax or post anything to complete their application. Instead, it is possible to do everything from the comfort of one?s home or even while on public transport through a computer or mobile device.

The first step is to apply online. Need Money Now offers online applicants a quick calculator that allows clients to select the amount they require and calculate how best to pay it all back. The second step is approval of the application and receipt of the cash. Need Money Now will, once the application is approved, transfer the money directly into the client?s bank account within an hour of the application being approved. The last step is repayment. Need Money Now will automatically deduct payments from the client?s bank account depending on the repayment schedule previously agreed upon. The amount taken is kept to a reasonable sum to avoid putting extra unnecessary financial strain on the client.

All materials and services are accessible on the website, and clients can safely store their documents online and access them at any time as Need Money Now uses one of the most advanced online security systems around. ?Whether you?ve taken out financial aid online before or it?s your first time, you can complete the process in the quickest and easiest way possible,? says Need Money Now, a statement proudly displayed on their website as well. Clients applying for the first time can get up to $500 easily and up to $1000 on subsequent requests. The amount the client is eligible to receive is dependent on their individual circumstances.

Need Money Now pride themselves on providing financial aid responsibly. Clients are told all the costs associated with their application for financial aid clearly and upfront, allowing them to make an informed decision when applying for assistance. Clients are actually advised not to seek financial aid unless it is completely necessary. The idea is to help clients improve their financial situation, not put them under further financial strain when they find themselves trying to pay back the money. This is why Need Money Now will never take more than 25% of a client?s net pay each pay period when considering repayment installments. This ensures that clients can afford to pay the money back while also helping them avoid financial strain.

When asking for financial aid, clients must meet certain criteria. Earning over four hundred dollars per week from on-going employment is one such mandatory requirement, and this must not include income from benefits, self-employment, a pension, or any other sources.

Need Money Now has helped a number of clients through their financial emergencies, as seen by the reviews left by clients. One review from a client named Janet states, ?What a great service. Would highly recommend to my friends. The ease of use and quick speed definitely got me out of a jam.?
