Brandy Station, Virginia based Dynamic Heating and Cooling recently published a new blog entry on their website, titled, "Fight Allergens With Your HVAC System."

The article can be found under Dynamic Heating and Cooling's blog section, through the following link: <https://goo.gl/posts/VPbpm>. There, the company addresses an issue that many people struggle with during the spring season, as the incidence of allergies increases during this period. With helpful information and answers to commonly asked questions, Dynamic Heating and Cooling seeks to both inform the community and raise awareness of the positive impact of having a well-maintained heating, venting, and air conditioning system.

The company began by stressing the importance of having an HVAC Filter of good quality, stating that it would reduce the number of particles in the air that often cause allergies. They stated that, "It's important to make sure that you've got the right filter, so it's worth talking to your local heating and air conditioning specialist for their recommendations. Of course, we're more than happy to advise anyone who comes to us."

Josh Bersee, a representative of Dynamic Heating and Cooling, spoke about the procedures that need to be carried out regularly to keep an HVAC system in good form. He said, "It's important to keep the system clean?once a year should be enough to reduce the amount of dirt that accumulates there with time, preventing it from being circulated around one's house. For this, it's as simple as cleaning it with a wet cloth, making sure to check for any signs of possible mold growth that may pose a serious threat to the inhabitants' health."

He continued, "People tend to overlook the care of the HVAC system, postponing the cleaning and maintenance that is necessary, until the system fails altogether. Regular maintenance and proper cleaning will increase the system's lifespan and, in most cases, it will also reduce one's allergies throughout the year."

This, in addition to the other useful resources available under the blog section of Dynamic Heating and Cooling's website, shows the commitment that the HVAC specialists have towards helping their community in every way possible. Through their website, the company has also outlined and described every service they provide in the interest of preserving full transparency with their customers. This gives members of the community every tool necessary to make the best choice when contracting an HVAC specialist. It is due to this commitment that the community has chosen, and continues to choose, Dynamic Heating and Cooling to help resolve all their HVAC-related issues. Many customers have described Dynamic Heating and Cooling as their Go-to option whenever their system presents any signs of failure. The company is also happy to visit their customers for regular maintenance runs.

Through Google Maps' review function, Carmel Dillinger, a resident of the community and satisfied customer of the HVAC system specialists, wrote, "Dynamic Heating and Cooling do a great job of both informing you when they will arrive at your house and being punctual. The team that came to my aid was very polite, and their expertise showed as they explained everything they were doing on the HVAC system. They showed great attention to detail, making sure that I felt comfortable through the entire process. The team went above and beyond to make sure that we were completely satisfied. I would definitely recommend this company for any HVAC needs."

The company provides a complete HVAC service, covering system installation, upgrades, maintenance, repairs, and accessories installation. Dynamic Heating and Cooling was recently added to the review website Yelp, and representatives of the company have invited their customers to be the first to review their services through the following link: <https://www.yelp.com/biz/dynamic-heating-and-cooling-brandy-station>.
