May 22, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Tucker Dental Care - Dr. Cheng DDS, based in Tucker, Georgia, has announced the various kinds of dental care services that they provide. The dentist in Tucker GA wants people to know that their services include dental implants, root canal, dental fillings, teeth whitening, cosmetic veneers, bridge, laser dentistry, partial and complete dentures, wisdom teeth extractions, and other common dental procedures. The dental office is open on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday, from 8:00 am to 5:00 pm.

Dr. Cheng herself says, "We are excited to announce the kinds of dental care services that we are able to offer our patients in Tucker and neighboring areas. It's hard to find a dentist who you can trust with your teeth completely especially if you've been wronged by those fancy clinics out there that charge hundreds and thousands of dollars to get simple procedures done. But that's not the case here. We are a small dental practice but I've been in practice as a dentist for more than 26 years and I've been constantly undergoing continuing education to ensure that we are using the most cutting-edge technology and equipment for all your needs."

An important service provided by the Tucker dentist is the dental implant. This is a surgical component that is introduced into the bone of the jaw to make sure that prosthesis, such as crowns and bridges, are totally settled in the patient's gums. This requires skills, knowledge, experience and the proper equipment because it requires a fixture within the bone of the jaw or skull. Thus, the dentist performs the procedure with extreme care. Aside from the advantage of getting other dental procedures done, dental implants allow for an improvement in comfort for the patient, ensuring ease in biting and an overall hygienic oral cavity.

Another common but important dental procedure performed by Dr. Cheng DDS is the root canal treatment. This treatment involves the removal of pulp and nerves from the tooth in order to reach the interior that has to be cleaned. This is needed when the root of the tooth has been damaged and become decayed because of certain eating habits. This procedure is quite lengthy and time consuming but the dentist ensures that the patient is comfortable and is provided with advice on what to do after the procedure. This advice is essential because a root canal requires some time to heal and can change the patient's eating habits from some time.

Dental fillings are also offered by Dr. Cheng DDS because many patients have the problem of growing bacteria inside their mouth. Not only will this have a negative impact on oral hygiene but it also hinders appropriate eating habits. Because of bacteria on the teeth, even the smallest gap between the teeth and gum can cause further infestation and eventually result into tooth decay. Dental fillings are used to fill those gaps so that the bacteria have no place to accumulate inside the mouth.

And then there is teeth whitening, which helps people combat their loss of self-confidence brought about by stained or discolored teeth. All the food that people eat tend to stain or discolor the teeth and this builds up in time. The professional teeth whitening service offered by Dr. Cheng DDS ensures that patients regain their pearly white teeth that sparkles even from a distance. In the teeth whitening procedure, all the plaque are removed from the teeth and a whitening paste is used to make the teeth look spotless and shiny.

Dr. Cheng DDS believes that their focus is their patients' health and satisfaction. And because the teeth are one of the most prominent features of the body, they will ensure that the teeth are treated with the utmost care, expertise, and compassion.
