Mr. Chem-Dry has announced that they are now providing furniture cleaning Park City Utah. The Centerville, Utah based company states that they offer deep cleaning for furniture using their proprietary cleaning system for those in Park City, as well as Ogden, Salt Lake City, Provo and surrounding Utah areas.

Daryl Olsen, a representative for the company says, "Our system will clean deep down in furniture, removing any dirt, grime, and allergens that may be present and leaving the entire room feeling and smelling fresh and clean."

Olsen says that furniture deep cleaning is a recommended service for homeowners at least once per year, particularly during the spring months in order to remove any allergens, pet dander or other dirt that may have built up in the furniture during the shut in winter months. He states that the company books quite a few carpet and furniture cleaning appointments around this time of year as consumers are ready to throw open the windows and really air out their homes.

"Allergens, dust mites, whatever you want to call them, get trapped in furniture just as they do carpet," says

Olsen. "Someone could have their carpet cleaned thoroughly and still not have that fresh, new scent and feeling in their home because they have neglected to clean their furniture. Particularly those who have small children or pets need to have their furniture cleaned no less than once per year in order to keep it looking new."

Olsen adds that many consumers attempt to clean their own upholstered furniture, but that self-cleaning simply does not get all of the dirt and allergens that can be trapped in those fibers. He urges those who have not had their furniture cleaned to contact the company to discuss setting up an appointment to have this done.

"Consumers can try to clean their own furniture, but honestly, unless they have a good cleaning system they are simply masking over the dirt," says Olsen. "Our system uses no harsh chemicals or soaps. It dries quickly, and we can remove up to 99 percent of allergens, dirt and grime with just one cleaning, making that furniture look new again in most instances."

Olsen adds that because the company's cleaning system does not use chemicals or soaps, it is completely safe for families, including those with small children and pets. Many chemicals are harmful to pets and humans and can cause serious breathing issues for those who suffer from asthma and other breathing conditions. The lack of chemicals and soaps means that the system used by Mr. Chem-Dry is much safer than those used by other cleaning companies.

The company uses the same green certified cleaning system to clean carpets, and since the system uses much less water than other professional cleaning systems, carpets and furniture dry much more quickly. Those who reside in the Park City area can contact the company directly to learn more about their furniture and carpet cleaning services.

Olsen states that anyone in the area who has not yet had their furniture cleaned for the spring season should contact the company to schedule an appointment. He adds that furniture can feel and smell stale after being shut in for the long winter months and that a deep cleaning will not only help the furniture to look better, it will give a fresh clean scent to the entire home.

Those who are interested in learning more about the furniture or carpet cleaning services offered by Mr. Chem-Dry can visit them on their company website. The company also offers countertop and tile cleaning, the details of which can be seen on their website, as well.

Olsen says that those interested in scheduling an appointment should do so quickly before they fill up their schedule. Spring is often the time when consumers choose to have their carpets and furniture cleaned and appointments should be scheduled soon. Direct contact information for scheduling can be seen on the company's website.
