

Columbus Windows & Siding Offering Free Consultations

May 21, 2019

May 21, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Columbus, OH (May 21, 2019) ? Columbus Windows & Siding has announced that the company is now offering free consultations for potential customers to provide quotes for projects on residential properties.

During the consultation, potential customers can expect to receive recommendations from professionals to fit each homeowner's personal taste and style while still allowing each client to have the final word. The company works to provide clear communication to ensure the customer understands what to expect with the installation process. The team works to make each person's vision for their home a reality with proper handling and care provided during the process.

The services offered by Columbus Windows & Siding include window installation, vinyl siding, roofing, and gutters. They can present the options available during the consultation and also discuss the client's budget for the remodel. All types of financing options are available through the company. They also work with all insurance carriers when repairs are needed and can prepare a damage report with an itemized estimate for repair. One of the team members will even meet with the insurance adjuster to communicate the repairs and the customer's coverage.

For those who want to maintain or replace their roof, a free roof inspection is available to identify any damage that is present or repairs that are needed. The company uses only the best available shingles from manufacturers like Owens Corning and GAF.

The company is committed to providing customers with the most innovative and cutting edge designs in today's home remodeling market. Each project includes manufacturers and workmanship warranties. They also work to accommodate the needs of the client and make it a smooth and successful remodeling process.
