

House Painters Auckland - BJA Painting Services Now Provide Full Painting Work

May 21, 2019

May 21, 2019 -
BJA Painting Services located Auckland has recently updated their painting service to include a full list of exterior house painting services.

The Auckland House painters have revised the scope and spread of their exterior painting service to now include painting of every exterior surface that a residential or commercial property may require.

This includes and is not limited to: Fence Painting, Balustrade Painting, Gate Painting, Roof Painting, Deck Painting and Staining, Garage Painting, Porch and portico painting.

Having a full-service painting company in Auckland certainly helps in project management for both a building manager for commercial buildings and homeowners in residential homes because all the work is handled by one painter and delegation of roles and organization is simplified to one company.

Having one company take care of all the painting work not only helps in an organization but also ensures that a painting job is completed in a much quicker and tighter time frame as timetables do not need to be juggled between multiple trades.

Exterior Painting is one of BJA Painting Service?s core pillars of work they have extensive knowledge on how to paint just about every exterior surface that can be painted. With 25 years of painting Auckland properties, it has become second nature to this seasoned company.

Brian, the CEO and owner of BJA Painting Services says, ?Exterior painting is my lifeblood and passion as it?s the first thing that everyone sees when they look at a building for the first time. My coat of paint on that house is what sets it apart from everyone else from the block and I take a lot of pride in making sure it?s perfect. If something is not right with the paint, it?ll get noticed and make the rest of the paint look bad. So I make it perfect, simple as that.?

Indeed creating a paint finish that can withstand the vigours of Auckland weather and climate is not an easy task as the city sees extreme shifts in temperature and humidity on a daily basis.

The exterior paint can be drenched in a torrential downpour and then blasted with the strong sun in the same hour, such shifts can cause the paint to lift off the surface, crack or blister if not applied right.

Brian says, ?even paint that is applied to thickly between coats can peel right off a surface in a month of two. Anyone can slap some paint on and consider one coat enough but a professional will know that 2 or 3 light coats create a stronger overall finish rather than one thick coat.?

With the scope of exterior surfaces that can be painted, any amateur painter cannot expect to know every single technique and special practice that is required to create a painted surface that can last 10 years of Auckland weather.

That is why using a professional painter from Auckland city is the wisest long term investment as the job will be done once and done to an industry leading and approved standard, using only New Zealand made paints and primers.

A New Zealand made paint is essential in all exterior painting work as it is designed and formulated to withstand the unique climate. Paint companies like Dulux and Resene conduct tests and offer warranties to guarantee that their paint will live up to the standards expected from them.

Using premium paints on all exterior painting work is key feature and component of BJA Painting Services and it?s a what gives their painting service that golden edge and reputation over other Auckland painters.

?We never cheapen out on budget paints,? Brian says. ?There is no way we can guarantee a professional painting finish when the material we used is not made up to the task in a foreign country. Besides that, we have built a foundation upon quality work and finishes that we would not wish to tarnish with methods used by cheap painters.?

With a reputation as far-reaching as Whangaparaoa and Bombay Hills, it is no surprise that BJA Painting Services continues to provide the best quality painting service that they have become known for.

BJA Painting Services? full exterior painting service is covered by an Auckland-wide service area, meaning that any home or business in the Auckland or surrounding area is eligible for painting.
