Brandy Station, VA based Dynamic Heating and Cooling is delighted to announce that they have just published a new article to help readers understand how they can save money by using a programmable thermostat. "Programmable thermostats are a convenient, smart option for anyone concerned about their impact on the environment, and they help save money too," said Josh Bersee, a company representative for the premier HVAC service company in Culpeper, VA.

The new article is located in the Blog section of their website and can be read in full here: <https://www.dynamiccooling.com/heating-and-cooling-with-a-programmable-thermostat/>. The article points out that some smart thermostats can also provide alerts when the filter needs to be changed, or the heating and cooling system serviced. The company hopes that by helping people understanding the benefits of using a programmable thermostat, more home and property owners will rest assured that they are not overusing their heating and cooling system unnecessarily. This will also help them avoid an increase in stress, and therefore extra maintenance, on the unit.

Some people are put off by new gadgetry, given that technology improvements happen all the time. Similarly, the HVAC industry is always changing as well, so having a reputable firm like Dynamic Heating and Cooling on hand to provide some advice and support through the installation can go a long way towards making sure the appliance is being used properly. The company provides residential heating and air conditioning installation, servicing and maintenance, as well as commercial HVAC services.

Dynamic Heating and Cooling is the fastest growing HVAC company in the Northern Virginia area. They credit their growth to their mission to provide the absolute best in customer service and innovation. They are dedicated to providing the absolute best service, not only in terms of technical knowledge and experience, but also in being helpful and supportive of every homeowner's needs.

Residents in newly constructed homes can find their air becoming stale or polluted, even after they change the filter. Having an experienced professional who can diagnose the problem and provide an all in one service can help alleviate chronic headaches, allergies, and sickness. The company's latest posts, including a relevant article titled "Fight Allergens With Your HVAC System," can be viewed here: <https://www.dynamiccooling.com/tjdb>.

Dynamic Heating and Cooling was recently featured on NewsMax for their article on how to lower air conditioning costs during the summer months. In it, Bersee is quoted saying, "There are a number of ways that consumers can save on their cooling costs during the summer months. Many are simply unaware of the different things that they can do to help lower these costs." The blog article includes a complete list of tips which can save consumers a bundle on those summer energy costs.

Virginia's weather can be harsh, so making sure the air conditioner is working and maintained is essential for all residents. Neglecting regular maintenance and inspection can mean a decline in air conditioner performance and an increase in energy usage, resulting in higher bills. Those who have overlooked cleaning or replacing air filters on a regular basis may find that their bills increase too, such as from 5% to 15%. However, proper care and attention can help extend the life of an HVAC system. Most HVAC systems usually last around ten years, so it pays to know someone who can be trusted to get the most out of it.

As HVAC systems can break down anytime, Dynamic Heating and Cooling is available 24 hours a day, though their hours may vary on public holidays. Their experienced technicians can work on any make or model on the market. They also offer ductwork design and building services, furnace maintenance and repairs, and they can upgrade HVAC systems and air purifiers for residential and commercial customers. A full list of the 61 Northern Virginia communities they serve can be found on their website.
