May 24, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Melroy Property Management or Melroy Properties, a property management and investment business, based in San Diego, California, has announced that they have recently published a blog post on how to handle tenants with pets. The company has a blog where they often publish articles with information that can help property owners. In this recent article, they consider the situation where residential property management owners are faced with the dilemma on whether or not to allow tenants to have pets in their properties.

Vida Melroy, a spokesperson for Melroy Property Management, says, "With this blog, we want property owners to be well informed so that they can find that managing their property investments is easier. The issue of pets in rental properties is indeed a difficult problem that owners need to deal with because they need to weight both the pros and cons carefully. Many tenants will like it if pets are allowed although some rules must be followed. On the other hand, there is the risk of pets destroying property and bothering other tenants."

Vida Melroy continues, "Finding a property management San Diego company you can trust is vital if you hope to get the best return on your investment. At Melroy Property and Investments, we help you benefit from all of the perks of owning property without dealing with the day-to-day hassles that can come with renting property on your own. Our experienced staff helps get more traffic to your rental while pricing it at the current market rate and finding qualified renters quickly. A thorough screening process makes sure your renters have qualifying credit, verifiable employment, and a good rental history.?

Melroy Property Management offers services to both property owners and tenants. The owners and operators of the company are property owners and investors themselves so they know the difficulties and the opportunities that arise from ownership and investment. They point out that they care for their clients' properties as if they are their own.

Their services take care of all aspects of property management, including screening tenants, marketing properties, inspecting properties, and addressing tenant issues. Their focus is on tenant retention, maintaining the property, and obtaining the highest possible return on investment. With almost 50 years of experience in property management in the area, they are able to forecast market trends and this helps them to accurately price properties and find and keep the best tenants.

For tenants, Melroy Property Management can help them if they are looking for a quality rental in the San Diego area. Because they have been managing rentals since 1969, they have the experience and the resources to find the most appropriate rentals for specific clients. Thus, renters can depend on the company for finding them clean and well-maintained rentals.

Clearly, the services provided by Melroy Property Management are of high quality. This has been proven by the positive reviews they have been receiving from previous clients. They have always been attentive to issues with my property and gone out of their way to get good tenants. The office consists of nice and personable people. You never feel like a number and they make you feel at home.?"

On Google, Nicole P. also gave them a five star rating and said, "Melroy staff especially our manager were very helpful and marvelously helped me with issues I recently had. I got so worried about being so late in paying my rent so contacted management first to address the issue and it went well and had explained that I would be able to pay on next payday with late payment charges as well as the NSF.?"
