The Dunwoody, Georgia based Dunwoody Pines Retirement Community is pleased to introduce Doug Baker as its new Executive Director. Baker brings with him over 17 years of experience in leadership and executive roles in the assisted living industry, serving as a sounding board and point person for thousands of residents for nearly two decades.

Baker, who holds a Doctorate degree from Covington Theological Seminary, says, "After learning more about the mission and vision of Dunwoody Pines and its parent company, Sunshine Retirement Living, I knew I wanted to join the network. I plan to be accessible to both residents and their families for any questions, concerns, or suggestions for improvement, and hope to know each resident of this community personally. My goal is to continue to be highly selective when it comes to hiring new team members and then invest in those team members to keep them here long-term, offering consistency for those who live here."
