Amazing Health Solutions, a Catonsville, Maryland company, has just announced that they have opened a new Pinterest account. The company plans to regularly pin and repin posts related to health and fitness.

"We make sure our followers will get useful tips on health and fitness," says Ronald Hoff of Amazing Health Solutions. "We are also posting funny pins, and will be pinning blog posts from our website, and new videos from our YouTube channel.

The new account can be viewed at <http://www.pinterest.com/ahealthsolution/>. Pinterest is a social media site that currently has millions of members. Members can post pictures, often with links to their sources, and many companies have found it to be very effective in creating awareness of their brand, or cause.

"We hope that our Pinterest account will provide interest to those who want to gain insights on health and fitness," says Hoff. "We'll be providing diet and exercise tips, as well as general wellness information. "I love Pinterest," says Danni L. of New York. "I check it daily just to find recipes, weight management tips, and DIY projects. I think it's great that Amazing Health Solutions has an account. Now I can actively keep up with what they're posting."

Posts from YouTube will come from <http://www.youtube.com/user/AmazingHealthChannel>, where the company regularly offers advice for those looking to live healthier lives. Amazing Health also offers a blog, found at <http://www.amazinghealthsolutions.com/blog/>.

"Our goal is to reach as many people as we can, offering advice on everything from what foods are best for fighting high cholesterol to how to make the perfect low calorie dessert," says Hoff.

The company already has more than 400 "pins" and those numbers are steadily climbing. From health, diet, and fitness tips to product sales and information, exercise specifics, and funny anecdotes, Amazing Health offers a number of interesting posts for those who are looking to add a bit of fitness to their lives.
