Cheltenham, Victoria based Elite Executive Services is an award-winning company which provides one of the most reliable corporate relocation services for those looking to move to Australia. The corporate relocation specialists boast vast experience in the field, which they use to assist those who are interested in relocating to any of the major cities in the country.

Elite Executive Services notes that the first obstacle in front of those looking for corporate relocations is often the lack of information on the subject. This drives many people away, as it can be very intimidating to move into a new market with many unknowns in the air.

"This is when it is such a comfort to have an expert you can turn to and have a conversation regarding your concerns," says Kathy Nunn, a company representative. "When moving to any location in Australia, it is important to know how every aspect of day-to-day life works there?from how the education system works to how long it takes to reach the city in traffic from certain suburbs, and whether or not there are places which sell certain foodstuffs. Our consultants can give you the answers to those questions. We are able to assist you with our services and you will find that they save you undue stress. Not only can our consultants assist you but we also rely on specialized tools that will make moving to Australia an easier experience right from the start.?

Elite Executive Services promises to guide the relocatee through every step of the relocation process, extending the support of their experts who are familiarized with many areas of a relocation process, such as immigration, emigration, and quality of life in the chosen city. These services are carried out with the guarantee of being managed confidentially, sensitively, and professionally, accommodating the client's unique requirements.

This is possible due to the experience and knowledge that the Elite Executive Services team has gathered throughout the years. They assert that they are experts in any of the subjects relevant to Australian Immigration, including all of the latest changes to local laws. "We strive to exceed our client's expectations," says Nunn, adding that, "We will provide an experienced, designated consultant, ensuring efficient and personal service, available at all times to clear any inquiries the client may have. Our ultimate goal is to ensure that each member of the family is supported and happy in their new environment."

Many customers have expressed their gratitude towards the company's support and orientation, and Elite Executive Services has received positive feedback on every one of their assistance programs. This includes their corporate relocation services, which is one of the latest services added to the company's catalogue.

"We can't express how thankful we are towards Elite Executive Services for their orientation in this matter," says Sarah Bochner, a customer of the corporate relocation specialists. "They sent us in the correct direction to rent a property that is appropriate for our work; it was close enough to the school and located in a nice neighbourhood. We managed to secure this very quickly which in turn let everything else slot into place. The team went above and beyond in helping us, and they gave detailed information on the local areas while answering what must have been the simplest of questions without ever making us feel bad for asking. We would have no qualms recommending Elite Executive Services to anyone who would like to move to Australia in the future as they have been so helpful, settling us in such a short time."

Reviews such as these are a common occurrence with Elite Executive Services, as they are well known in the industry for their excellence and commitment towards helping the community. This has earned them a number of awards throughout the years, including Australia's Most Outstanding for Specialist Relocation Services 2019—the latest award won by the company in May.
