GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. ? Trader Rich, maker of accessories for women and girls, announced today that it is expanding the color selection for its popular line of little girls clutch purses. The company made the decision to add colors based on input from customers. Now, customers will be able to pick up this clutch in pink, off-white, and turquoise. With the existing colors ? black, blue, purple, red, and white ? there are 8 vibrant shades to choose from.

?Because the bag has such a simple design, the smooth Faux Leather really showcases each color,? said Richard Harrison, CEO of Trader Rich. ?You can wear this bag as a shoulder bag close to your side or use it as a Crossbody. No matter which way your little girl wears her new clutch, it looks so much like an adult purse that she is going to feel all grown up.?

Handmade in Mexico, the purses are made of Faux Leather. It has a solid structure that will help it always keep its shape. The magnetic closure is easy enough for a child to maneuver without any help but secure enough to keep her stuff safe. Because it is no frills it?s perfect for tom boys and girly girls alike. And the age range runs from 2 years old up to 12 or more.

This handbag has consistently received rave reviews ? 5 out of 5 stars! Here are a few comments from some satisfied customers: ?Adorable purse perfect for little girls that want to feel like big girls!?!; ?The pink bag is so girly and fashionable that it is a favorite accessory for my little miss fashionista.?!; And if you think this clutch is just for kids, think again: ?I have a tiny digital camera that I take out with me and this is a great size for something like this.?
