Vegas Security Window Film Service offers a variety of services including on-site window tinting in the Las Vegas area. The company has over 20 years of experience with tinting not only car windows, but home and office windows as well.

When it comes to homes and offices having a lot of glass windows is seen as a plus by a lot of people, however there are risks and issues that can make it harder. Window security film is designed to combat several problems associated with having glass windows.

Security film is a great product for making glass harder to breach. Intruders have to use a lot more force and the resulting noise can give more time to react. Security film can also save lives by keeping the glass from windows and doors from becoming sharp projectiles when subjected to major forces and it can reduce the speed at which a bullet or object enters one's home or business.

Vegas Security Window Film Service states, "It is great to have a good view and let light into your home or business. Having a lot of light can help with mood, decrease the amount you spend on lighting, etc. However, the visibility and exposure that windows cause, especially on ground level or if they aren't near other multiple story buildings, can mean others can clearly see what is going on in your home. Valuables are enticing thieves. When burglars look in the windows they may see that the home is empty or occupied by only one person. Clear security film only offers protection from shattering and provides no privacy. Some of the films can offer a mirrored appearance on the outside and a clear but subtly tinted one-way view from the inside looking out that can be a good compromise home and business owners."

Security film is something anyone can use it to get some extra privacy. Some films are glued on while others use static. This means even if the home or office is a rental, this is something that can be done to increase privacy and security.

Security film keeps the glass from shattering into harmful or fatal shards. It was invented in response to the problem of blasts or bullets actually shattering glass and the shards causing damage.
