July 22, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

FineNaturals is pleased to announce its grand opening, with products available to consumers on Amazon. The company's Premium Ultra Dark Cacao Powder is their first product recently released on the Amazon US marketplace. The product can be viewed at <http://www.amazon.com/Unsweetened-FineNaturals-Superfood-Antioxidant-Flavonoids/dp/B00YOGWWE8>.

"We at FineNaturals would like to give customers a wonderful opportunity to sample our delicious organic cacao for a great price," states Henriette of FineNaturals.

FineNaturals is a new company committed to providing high quality products from the best sources on the planet. Consumers are not just left to discover uses for their product themselves. The company also educates through their website, and provides a bonus with every purchase that gives insights into incorporating this as well.

"FineNaturals stands out as being a company that goes above and beyond and will continue to provide excellent customer service and the best products for optimal health and well-being," states Henriette. In the future the company will be providing consumers with a number of health products. Their ultra dark cacao powder, although the most recently released product, will certainly not be the only product they offer.

FineNaturals also provides YouTube videos that help consumers answer a number of questions about health and wellness, including why certain superfoods are beneficial and how to properly use those for optimal health. The latest video can be viewed at <https://youtu.be/npQQvm9bK5U>.

"It's so great to find a company that cares enough to go above the normal products for sale. FineNaturals also helps with instructive videos, and gives me tips and advice on overall wellness," states Jeannette of WV. Studies show that the purchase of superfoods has been steadily on the rise over the past five years, as more and more consumers are learning the benefits of organic and otherwise healthy products.

The grand opening sale is set to run from July 24, 2015 until August 7, 2015. This is a one-time introductory sale, as supplies are limited. Discounts will be applied upon checkout. "We urge consumers to visit Amazon and grab those sale products while they can," says Henriette.
