Tucson, Arizona: With over a decade of serving Federal and Postal employees while based in the Tucson area, Better Federal Retirement announces the ability for Federal Institutions to have custom curricula designed for their financial education programs, specific for their agencies.

Along with this offering to Federal Institutions, the Better Federal Retirement staff is excited to make known that this is also available for individual Federal and Postal employees as well.

"One problem for Federal employees," says Federal/Postal retirement income planning expert M. Nigel Fusella, "is that though they have much better benefits than average Americans, most financial advisors offer them the same advice and products that they offer average Americans. The unfortunate result is that you have a lot of square pegs in round holes, so to speak." Mr. Fusella is the founder of Better Federal Retirement in Tucson, Arizona.

Unfortunately, most Federal employees shortchange themselves and never seek out professional advice from a financial advisor who specializes in Federal employee benefits. Over the course of retirement, this can cost a married couple tens of thousands of dollars in lifetime income that proper planning could have provided.

As a Chartered Federal Employee Benefits Consultant with 18 years serving Postal and Federal employees, Mr. Fusella possesses a thorough understanding of Federal Employee Benefits, and has spent years developing specific financial solutions to the specific problems facing Federal employees today, and ?as a result,? he says, ?I have been effective in saving my clients an average of more than $50,000 in Federal benefit costs by age 65.?

M. Nigel Fusella is founder and financial income expert at Better Federal Retirement, in Tucson.
