June 17, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Ethos Spa Skin & Laser Center, based in Summit, New Jersey, has announced that they are now one of the leading providers of laser treatments for removing hair in New Jersey. They have stated that they are committed to being one of the top providers of laser hair removal in the state. And that they have been performing according to their goal has been proven by patient testimonials and reviews.

Hardik Soni, founder of Ethos Spa Skin & Laser Center, says, "Unwanted hair can be a pesky confidence buster. Whether you were born with hairy toes or are experiencing hormone changes that are causing hair to grow where it shouldn't, taking that first step to remove unwanted hair for the long term can drastically change the way you feel about yourself and your life. Our laser hair removal service provides long-term removal of unwanted hair and gives you the freedom to do more with your time. Plus, you get the benefit of healthier, smoother skin and improved confidence."

According to Hardik Soni, laser hair removal is a quick and convenient solution for effectively and safely removing unwanted hair from almost any part of the body. Some of the most common areas that can be treated by laser hair removal include the upper lip, bikini lines, back, legs, underarms, stomach, neck, shoulders, arms, face, sideburns, and chin. Meanwhile, according to the American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery, laser hair removal was the third top non-surgical aesthetic procedure performed in 2016 in the United States, with more than a million people having experienced the treatment using pulsed light and lasers to remove unwanted hair.

The laser hair removal treatment involves passing over a hand-held laser device over the skin of the treatment area. The device works by focusing controlled laser light on each individual hair follicle. The pigment in the hair absorbs the laser light, which causes the hair follicle to heat up, which results in hindering or delaying hair regrowth.

Meanwhile, the number of laser hair removal treatments will depend on the individual patient. It should be noted that hair grows in three states: anagen, telogen, and catagen. To be most effective, laser hair removal must be performed during the early part of the anagen phase, which is when the hair is actively growing. Thus, several sessions may be required in order to make sure that the treatment is done during that particular stage of growth. The sessions are spaced by a month apart and this repeating strategy offers optimal hair reduction in the chosen area. It has been observed that those areas with darker and coarse hair, such as the underarms, lower legs and bikini lines, require only a few treatments. But for the face and arms, more sessions are often required.

It should be noted that laser hair removal does not offer permanent hair removal for anyone. Nevertheless, the said laser treatment has been found to make a substantial impact on the excessive hair growth experienced by women with polycystic ovary syndrome or PCOS.

The owners and physicians at Ethos Spa Skin & Laser Center have expressed their commitment to providing clients with the most effective and safest customized aesthetic procedures, using the most advanced non-invasive cosmetic technologies and treatments.

Hardik Soni, who is founder and medical director at Ethos Spa, has extensive experience in various laser platforms, including Cutera, Candela, Fraxel, Syneron, Sciton, and Aesthera. He is able to provide the best possible results by drawing on his vast experience with a wide range of laser platforms and having completed more than 15,000 treatments.
